Bell Pushes Massive School Busing

GRIFFIN BELL
Supports Busing

By RICHARD CARELLI
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorney General Griffin Bell says massive forced busing of students may be a justified means of eradicating the effects of racial discrimination in made the busing of some 18,000 students necessary this school year.

"Dayton has for a long time operated one set of schools primarily for whites and another set primarily for blacks," Bell said. He said the Dayton's 88 public schools must reflect, within 15 per cent, the racial makeup of the entire school district. The district is 52 per cent white and 48 per cent black.

The high court is to hear the case Wednesday, the last because of recent indications by some Supreme Court justices that they are considering reining in the powers of federal judges to remedy the proven impact of discrimination in education.

The government is not a party in the Dayton case, but Bell filed a brief as a friend of the court, citing his department's "substantial enforcement responsibility" in school desegregation under the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

It is highly unusual for an attorney general to author a brief filed with the Supreme Court. That job usually is handled in important cases by the solicitor general, the government's top courtroom lawyer.

Solicitor General Wade McCree, a judge in the 8th Circuit before his recent appointment, disqualified himself. Rather than have one of McCree's assistants write the brief, Bell chose to do it.

Justice Department spokesmen said the attorney general considered the policy statement important enough to appear over his signature.

Bell, in a 42-page dissertation, did not agree with the appeals court's reasoning for ordering the sweeping remedy but urged the Supreme Court to let it stand despite a challenge from the Dayton Board of Education.

"They (school officials) have not established that relief less extensive than that required by the court would eliminate the effects of the racial discrimination," Bell said.

In recent months, the Supreme Court has set aside sweeping desegregation orders for schools in Austin, Texas, and Indianapolis, Ind., sending those cases back to lower courts with instructions to search for more limited remedies.

In the Austin case, the court made no comment as it voided a plan ordered by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court. In a concurring opinion written for himself and two other justices, however, Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr. said remedies must fit the discriminatory ill.

Powell added that desegregation orders are justified only when the proven discrimination was caused by intentional policies carried out by school boards and not factors such as housing patterns over which school officials have no control.

Bell said Friday that persons complaining about discrimination should not have to carry "the heavy burden" of proving the specific effects of discriminatory intent.

"Because attendance patterns in every school district are the product of many causes, a requirement that the plaintiffs establish which effects have been caused by racial considerations would allow the discriminators to prevail — provided only that they could suggest some plausible explanation," he said.

public school systems.

Bell, whose nomination to the Carter administration was avidly opposed by civil rights activists, told the Supreme Court on Friday the Justice Department backs a court-ordered desegregation plan for Dayton, Ohio, schools which government has found "evidence which we believe established pervasive racial discrimination with persistent effects."

The Supreme Court last January agreed to review a ruling by the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals that each of scheduled day for oral arguments in the court's term. A final decision on the propriety of the desegregation plan is expected by the end of June, when the court term ends.

The Dayton case has been viewed as potentially a major school desegregation test

By JIM DAVIS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Production of the worst gas-guzzling cars could be outlawed to save fuel, United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock has suggested.

"Why should we do something that deliberately wastes the finite resource just because people have the extra money to buy it?" Woodcock asked a House subcommittee Friday.

The chief of the 1.1 million-member union did not specify which models should be outlawed and a spokesman said later the union is only raising the concept, not attacking particular cars.

Woodcock said at the panel's hearings on auto fuel efficiency that there are two ways to get rid of the worst gas guzzlers. One, he said, would be to accelerate the financial penalties against auto makers for each inefficient car they make. The penalty is $30 per mile per gallon short of efficiency standards.

"I've also suggested the possibility of — you know if what we're concerned about is conserving gasoline — then maybe the lowest bottom-line is (these) cars shouldn't be produced.

"I welcome the fact that the President of the United States recognizes this energy crisis this country faces," Woodcock said. "And I think his actions this week have gone a long way to turn the temper of the people of the United States to recognize there is an ongoing problem."

Woodcock drew fire at the House energy and power subcommittee hearing from congressmen who accused the union of lining up with automakers against Carter administration proposals for cutting auto pollution.

Rep. Andrew Maguire, D-N.Y., told Woodcock the auto emission standards the UAW proposed last month are not the compromise they were described as being but only a close version of the auto makers.

And Rep. Richard Ottinger, D-N.Y., told Woodcock: "It distresses me to see the United Auto Workers take a position alongside the companies to drag our feet on producing more efficient and cleaner engines."

Woodcock replied that the auto makers accepted the UAW position, not the other way around, and said "it would be ludicrous" for the UAW to change its stand only because the automakers agree with it.

Billy Says Reporters Distort His Drinking

NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — Billy Carter, here for a charity fund-raising weekend, says his smoking and drinking habits have been blown out of proportion by reporters. "Ain't no way I could drink as much as they say I do," the President's brother said Friday. "Maybe some days I do smoke six packs of cigarettes. Some days maybe I drink 20 to 25 beers — but not every day." The American Cancer Society withdrew its participation in the weekend events after Carter recently said in an interview that he was not concerned about cigarette smoking being linked to cancer. Carter said that in turn, his wife turned down a cancer society chairmanship in Georgia.

Carter also sparked controversy among swamp buggy race drivers, who complained after learning about his $10,000 fee to preside. The race was called off. Carter had a brief discussion here with a couple of Russian farm experts on the merits of different beers. Carter was introduced to Drs. Vladimir Sheremetev and Ivan Gavva, agriculture specialists attached to the Soviet Embassy in Washington. "I like Michelob," said Sheremetev.

"I'm a Blue-Ribbon man myself," said Carter.

ILLEGAL UNDERPAYMENT CHARGED AMA's 'Postage Due' $1 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service is giving the American Medical Association a bitter pill to swallow: a million dollar bill for back postage that's due Monday.

The Postal Service accused the AMA of illegally underpaying its postal charges for more than three years. It threatened legal action if the back postage is not paid promptly.

Copies of two letters from Arthur S. Cahn, assistant general counsel for the mail agency, seeking payment from the AMA were obtained by The Associated Press.

In Chicago, AMA spokesman Joseph Breu declined to comment.

Cahn said in one of the letters, "If the deficiency is not satisfied, the Postal Service intends promptly to initiate whatever litigation may be necessary to enforce its claim."

The Postal Service action is in addition to a criminal investigation by the Justice Department of possible fraud by the AMA in connection with mail reports of its weekly magazine.

Second class mailers do not put postage on the magazines and newspapers they send through the mail. Instead, they submit reports to the Postal Service saying how many copies were sent.

The Postal Service contends the AMA submitted false reports on its mailings, allowing it to underpay its postal bills.

The AMA Board of Directors in 1970 voted to expand the circulation of the Journal of the American Medical Association by sending free copies to physicians who were not association members.

The apparent goal of the free distribution was to increase the journal's advertising revenue from manufacturers of drugs and medical devices.

However, the law requires organizations with second class mailing permits to distribute no more than 10 per cent of their circulation as free sample copies. They must pay a higher postage rate, known as the transient rate, to send out extra sample copies.

Cahn said the AMA paid $106,820 between April 3, 1972, and August 4, 1975, when it should have paid $1,215,787. His letter demanded the $1,048,967 difference, but no fines were assessed.

The Postal Service undertook an audit of the Journal's mail records after receiving AMA documents from a source known as "Sore Throat." "Sore Throat" has distributed internal AMA documents to federal agencies and the news media.

One of these documents was a letter from an AMA lawyer who said the issues involved in the controversy over JAMA "may also be relevant to 10 AMA specialty journals and to AMA's Today's Health magazine."

The author of the letter, Washington attorney Lee M. Mitchell, later acknowledged the letter's authenticity.

And He Thinks OSHA Is 'Ridiculous Outfit'

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — Billy Carter thinks he's being picked on. The President's brother is fuming about being cited by the federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration for nine violations at his Plains gasoline station. OSHA gave him 15 days to do away with debris and alleged safety violations — or to contest the citation. "I think it is based strictly because Jimmy's President and I'm his brother," Carter said Friday. He called OSHA "a ridiculous outfit." Besides, Carter said, "The whole damn town is junky as hell. The station is probably the cleanest station in town." OSHA officials say the violations are not serious and carry no penalties, as long as they are corrected.

Being Old And Poor Worst In Rural Areas

If you are like most Americans, you rarely see them. They suffer silently, too proud to plead, too tired to raise a fuss, too distant to be heard. They are this nation's five and a half million rural elderly, and they've never had it so bad.

The back roads of Southwestern Michigan are filled with pitiful examples. If you don't believe it, try your own tour of Berrien, Cass, Allegan or Van Buren counties this Sunday afternoon.

Two of every five Americans aged 65 or older live in small towns or on farms. One of every three elderly persons living outside metropolitan areas is poor. Throughout the countryside, infirmity and isolation conspire to deny life staples and health care to older individuals, often regardless of income.

The nation's great migration from farm to city during and since World War II loosened the rigid family structure that had served the rural population so well for centuries. Before the war, younger family members routinely supported the old and feeble, fully expecting the same eventual treatment from their own children.

Between 1940 and 1970, however, rural areas experienced a net loss of five million residents — mostly young people lured away by the promise of jobs in the city. More recently, the trend has slowed. But existing federal programs and understaffed local agencies can't handle the problems that the exodus created for those left behind.

Prompted by the emergence of a vigilant older persons' lobby in Washington, lately Congress has displayed more concern for the special needs of the elderly. The Senate recently voted to preserve the Special Committee on Aging despite a major push to consolidate or eliminate all special committees. Just last month in Denver, the committee held hearings into the plight of the rural elderly to determine how federal programs might better serve them.

Despite the promise held out by such gestures, lawmakers still haven't broken from the historical pattern of concentrating a disproportionate share of federal funds in the cities.

Testifying before the Senate committee two years ago, Jack Ossosky, head of the National Council on the Aging, noted that 75 per cent of federal poverty funds go to the cities, where only 50 per cent of the nation's poor reside. According to Ossosky, farms and villages account for 60 per cent of the nation's substandard housing.

Widespread misconceptions concerning the quality of life in the countryside persist, obscuring the condition of the rural elderly and preserving the welfare system's urban bias. With fuel prices soaring, the problem could be compounded. Social service agencies will be forced to abandon many existing and projected programs in rural areas if transportation costs become prohibitive. Approximately 150 private bus companies have discontinued service in rural areas since 1960.

Tragically enough, even the resources set aside for the rural poor and elderly do not always reach them. Aaron E. Henry of the National Center on Black Aging told the Senate committee that local agencies in some remote regions simply lack the technical knowledge to complete applications for federal aid.

Early Retirement Concept Has Had Some Big Reverses

Early retirement plans, which began gaining prominence in the 1960s, are turning into a two-pronged fork. If all goes well they can provide benefits to both employee and employer. But if adequate preparation has not been made, and in many cases it has not, they can cause serious human problems.

A study by The Conference Board, an industry-sponsored research organization, finds 45 per cent of all nongovernment workers are not covered by employer-sponsored retirement plans. Early retirements also are placing a heavy burden on the Social Security system, which is falling short on tax collections to cover benefits.

With organizations like the American Association of Retired Persons and the American Medical Association working against mandatory retirement based on age, rethinking is occurring on the early retirement concept.

Politics Come First With Soviet Traders

Soviet economic planners are politicians first and financial managers second. In working out trade deals and other contacts with governments under cultivation by the Kremlin leadership, profits are the least of the Soviet worries. First on their list of priorities is getting a foot in the door.

That makes competition tough for private concerns which cannot afford to extend unlimited credit or give their products and services away. Fortunately, Soviet trade is limited by an inefficient production system and perennial shortages at home.

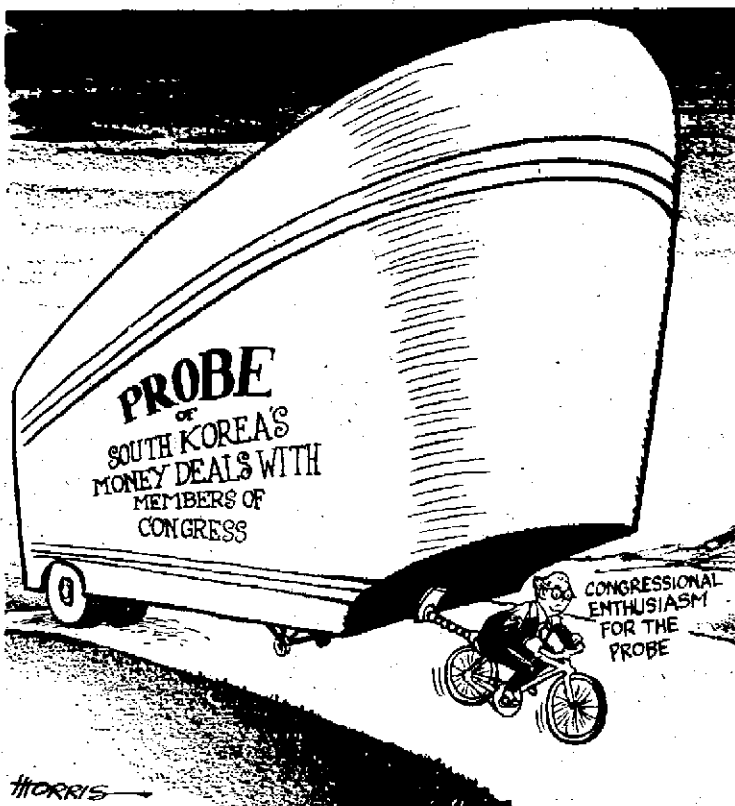

One of the Soviet giveaway programs now underway threatens to cause further problems for the West in Africa, a continent Soviet planners are doing their utmost to sway to their allegiance. Playing up to the desires of African countries to expand relations with potential economic advantages, Soviet officials are adding a number of African stops to the regular flight schedules for Aeroflot, the Soviet airline.

Regular stops now are scheduled in four African countries, with another half dozen soon to be included. The routes will not be profitable, except in goodwill, to the Soviet Union. The effect will be to provide shuttle service for a large part of a continent which has few operating air services of its own. On the Kremlin's ledgers, the financial losses could be more than offset by political gains.

SAYS DEMOLITION COMPLETE WASTE

The article on St. Joseph Schools in the April 15 edition said Mr. Piemeleer read three letters expressing appreciation for cooperation in relieving the school district of a financial burden by demolishing the Milton Junior High.

I disagree with the board's hasty decision to demolish the building. When a building is structurally sound and its appearance is acceptable to tear it down is a complete waste of money in any language. The Milton Junior High with its auditorium and gymnasium would have made a fine Senior Citizens Center among other things.

If the birth rate rises in the next year, the school board will be clamoring for another school.

LET'S NOT GIVE UP CANAL

Hon. Robert Griffin
U.S. Senate
Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C.

Dear Sir:

It is reported that the new administration hopes to have a new treaty pertaining to the Panama Canal by midsummer. The State Department is moving ahead toward a gradual relinquishment of sovereignty in spite of overwhelming support by the American people for the retention of full sovereignty.

I hope that you agree that we should retain full and complete control. I am sure that you do recognize its very great strategic value, and its importance for an adequate naval defense of our shores. The possibility of Communist control of this critical seaway is enough to make one shudder.

As you know, Senator Strom

Thurmond of South Carolina is sponsoring a resolution (S.Res.97) opposed to yielding up the Canal Zone to the Marxist Panamanian government. I urge you to give your support to this resolution.

In my opinion, the question of a new treaty is one of the most vital issues upon which the Senate will be called to act, and I hope that you will decide to endorse the existing treaty as one which has benefited both Panama and the entire hemisphere.

SENIORS THANK COLUMA STUDENTS

Editor,

April 18 was a very special night for some participants in the North Berrien Senior Center. They enjoyed a program of entertainment provided by local students. First on the program were The Traces, the Watervliet Junior High School stage band. Their music was excellent, a good reflection on their director, Mr. Robert Nelson. Then students from Columa High School put on acts from their variety show. Jane Thompson, a student herself, served as M.C. and organizer. All of these students and their teachers deserve highest praise. They are not only developing their talents, but they are willing to take the time to share them with others.

We at the North Berrien Senior Center wanted to publicly thank these talented students for a very enjoyable evening for our seniors.

"Speed" Bradford, weak but still going, plunged again into the mud and flood zone of the west today in a desperate effort to reach Benton Harbor in time for a tardy appearance at the Pre-Blossom jubilee at the Army Sunday afternoon. Bradford, who is attempting a record-breaking race across the continent and back, and who has encountered terrific obstacles all along the way, went through Brush, Colorado early this morning on his eastward trek.

Mrs. Millard Livengood and daughter, Dorothy, were forced to flee their sleeping garments Friday night when their home in Hollywood caught fire and burned to the ground. Mr. Livengood, who is employed in Battle Creek, was not home at the time. The bungalow and everything in it burned up. The loss is estimated at $5,000.

Columa — Mrs. Ella Fox, of Chicago, has purchased the large Bove residence here of heirs of the late P.O. Bove and has announced her intention of remodeling it and arranging the property for a girls' summer camp. The Bove summer resort has entertained hundreds of visitors. It overlooks Paw Paw Lake. Extensive improvements and additions are being planned for the grounds.

Watervliet — A considerable part of the big apple orchard holdings of Robert H. Two Good Men May Lock Horns

WASHINGTON — Considering the paucity of first-class political talent in this country, it seems a shame to see a U.S. Senate race looming next year that could pit incumbent Democrat Dick Clark of Iowa against state's Republican Gov. Robert Ray.

The inescapable problem with such a contest is that someone has to lose, and neither the citizens of Iowa nor the rest of us should find any pleasure in that prospect.

Dick Clark is an unusually intelligent and effective senator. Bob Ray is an exceptionally decent and able governor. Good government buffs in Washington and Iowa alike are already cringing at the thought of choosing between the two if Ray decides to challenge Clark next year.

Admittedly, it's not the sort of problem that arises very often. Far more frequently, voters are compelled to choose the lesser of two evils. (The 1970 Indiana Senate contest between Democrat Vance Harke and Republican Richard Roudebush comes readily to mind.)

Clark and Ray are obviously not interchangeable. The Democratic senator is an unabashed liberal, a legislative innovator who frequently operates well out in front of the pack in the Senate. The GOP governor is a progressive, skillful administrator whose views place him squarely in the center of the political spectrum.

Now serving an unprecedented fourth term as governor, Ray has never in the past displayed much interest in moving to Washington, although he could have easily captured a Senate seat in 1974 when Democrat Harold Hughes retired.

Like a dozen or so other successful Republican officeholders, however, he is now eyeing a possible presidential bid either in 1980 or 1984. And some of his closest advisers are urging him to seek the Senate seat as a stepping stone, arguing it would provide greater national visibility than he can hope to command from the Iowa statehouse.

On the other hand, Ray enjoys being governor. "When he makes a decision now, things happen. It might be kind of frustrating in the Senate; especially as part of the minority," said one Iowa Republican who is close to the governor.

Ray is considering a third option, our sources tell us. He could emulate Jimmy Carter, retire at the end of his current term and spend the two years between 1978 and 1980 campaigning full time for president.

Ray can afford to wait awhile before making up his mind, but Clark has already launched his re-election campaign. Just last week, Vice President Walter F. Mondale served as the drawing card at an Iowa fund-raising dinner that was expected to give Clark an initial war chest of some $50,000 for next year's campaign.

Under normal circumstances, Clark could probably win with a $5 kitty. Polls by the Des Moines Register show his approval rating has climbed from 44 percent in January 1973, his first month in office, to 70 percent last month — the highest ever achieved by an Iowa senator.

There's only one hitch: Ray, in the same March survey, racked up a phenomenal 81 percent approval rating and an earlier Register poll which paired the two men in a head-to-head test showed Ray holding a 50-33 lead over Clark, with 17 percent undecided.

'Noblest Man' Is Communist Agent

Last September 21, a bomb exploded in the car of Orlando Letelier as he was driving through Washington. Letelier and one passenger died. Letelier, who had been Salvador Allende's Chilean ambassador to Washington and later a member of his cabinet, instantly became an international hero.

His murder, mourned George McGovern, "deprived the world of one of its noblest men." The Washington Post called Letelier "an economist of deep intellect and human spirit... a rare individual, as patient in argument as he was passionate in conviction. He exemplified precisely the qualities — reason, concern for the common man, and civility — which the junta is trying to suppress in his native land... He deserves honor."

Well, unfortunately for that view, we now know that contents of the briefcase Letelier had with him when he died. You are not hearing much about it from the media, but Letelier was a Communist agent, a revolutionary leading a double life.

Outwardly, Letelier was a man of the left, but, ostensibly, of the democratic left. At the time of his death he was working for the Institute for Policy Studies (IPS), a Washington think-tank which provides a kind of link between the respectable and the revolutionary left. He was also director of the Transnational Institute, a branch of the IPS in Amsterdam.

The briefcase, however, tells us a great deal more about this interesting character, this noblest of humans.

Letelier was receiving a regular stipend of $1,000 per month from Havana. His briefcase contained two letters from Salvador Allende's daughter Beatrice, or "Tati," who lives in Havana and is married to the second in command of the Cuban KGB, Luis Fernandez de Ona. This individual helped arrange Che Guevara's ill-fated expedition to Bolivia, and he played a key role in Chile during the Allende years.

The first letter to Letelier from Tati is dated May 8, 1975. It states that "from here, I will be sending you, in the name of the party, $1,000 a month to support your work. Today I sent you $5,000 so as not to have to make monthly transfers."

The second letter from Tati is dated August 20, 1976. It deals with problems encountered in arranging the transfer of propaganda materials, and concludes that the best way to get the material to Letelier will be via "the comrades of the USSR and East Germany."

Even more striking, perhaps, is a letter from Letelier to Tati in Havana. It discusses the strategy to be used in the campaign in the U.S. against aid to Chile. Letelier explained that it was crucial that the campaign maintain "an apolitical character, oriented exclusively to the problem of human rights." The goal, he wrote, "is to mobilize the 'liberals' and other persons, who, if they don't identify with us from an ideological point of view, are in it for what human rights reflects..."

Letelier concluded this letter with a hope that someday a Communist regime could be installed in Chile: "Perhaps some day, not far away, we also will be able to do what has been done in Cuba."

The briefcase also contains a letter from one of Letelier's colleagues, Juan Gabriel Valdes, to a member of the Central Committee of the Cuban Communist Party. Other papers reveal Letelier's connection to a network of Communist agents and officials here and abroad.

Strangely enough, the major media have carried very little about these sensational discoveries.

Whirlpool's New President Wanted To Become Coach

BY LARRY MACINTYRE
Staff Writer

When Herbert K. Anspach graduated from high school in 1943, he and the other 10 members of his football team all wanted to become football coaches. Eight of them made it. Of the three who didn't, one was killed in North Africa in World War II, one became a physician, and the other, Anspach, went on to become president and chief operating officer of Whirlpool Corp.

Anspach, 50, was elected to the posts by the board of directors Feb. 21. He had been with Whirlpool and its affiliates since 1945 when he started as a patent attorney. The new president was recently interviewed by The Herald-Palladium in his office at the Whirlpool Administrative center on North Shore drive, Benton township.

He Values Background In Football

With net sales last year of almost $1.6 billion, Whirlpool is one of the largest manufacturers of home appliances in the world.

As president and chief operating officer, Anspach is responsible for all manufacturing, research and engineering, controlling and personnel. He is a member of the board of directors and in the absence of Chairman John Platts would become the acting chief executive officer.

Although he never became a coach, Anspach did go on to play two years of college football — at Oberlin College, Ohio, in 1944, and at University of Wisconsin in 1945.

At Wisconsin, he was a half-back and punter. "We ended up being one of the teams that made the top half of the Big 10 possible," Anspach said.

Nevertheless, he said he values the experience. "Football teaches you to take some setbacks without becoming a loser."

Anspach grew up on a farm in Ada, Ohio. He was once asked why he showed a preference for hiring football players and sons of farmers. He answered, "They don't think they're sick when they start sweating."

Anspach said his father pointed out to him that football coaches have a tendency to last only a few years in their jobs. Maybe he should be an engineer instead.

"For some strange reason I followed his advice."

After a brief stint in a Navy officer training school before the war ended, he took up engineering studies. He graduated from Wisconsin in 1947 with a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering.

His first job was as a products engineer with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., Dayton, Ohio.

Less than three years later, he suddenly decided he wanted to go into patent law. It was that decision that ultimately led him to the doors of Whirlpool.

Anspach said he made the decision on a day when he had gone shopping with a friend who was getting married and wanted to look at wedding rings. Anspach tagged along to look at golf clubs.

During a sudden rainstorm, Anspach ducked inside an office building for shelter and by chance struck up a conversation with a patent attorney who had an office there.

Anspach said he visited the man in his office and was so impressed with the job and the plush surroundings that he decided he wanted to be a patent attorney.

"If it hadn't have been for my friend getting married and a rainstorm, I'd probably still be an engineer with Goodyear."

Pre-School Clinic Set At Lakeshore

A vision and hearing clinic for pre-schoolers in the Lakeshore school district will be held May 9 thru 11 at Lakeshore's Roosevelt elementary school, Stevensville. Arnold G. Luther, chairman of the Lakeshore Lions club, which sponsors the clinic, said pre-schoolers in order to take the tests must be registered in advance by parents or guardians. Parents can do so by writing Florence Lauck, 1846 North Donna drive, Stevensville. There is no charge for the tests which are to be conducted by technicians. The Lakeshore school district and Berrien county Health department are cooperating in setting up the clinic.

Coloma Butcher Joins Friday's

COLOMA — A Coloma businessman marking his 20th year in business has announced plans to close his grocery store and relocate the meat department to an addition to Farmer Friday's market, in Coloma township, effective May 25.

Fred Zoschke, owner and operator of Fred's Meat Market, 210 Paw Paw street, Coloma, said "he was unable to compete with the larger grocery stores in the Coloma area," in commenting on the move.

Zoschke added, "I plan to offer a larger selection of fresh cut (unpacked) meat, with personal meat cutting service too, at the new location."

According to Zoschke, over 100 feet of counter space will be located in the new meat department at Farmer Friday's, with 36 feet of the counter area being devoted to fresh cut meat. The market has not previously had a fresh meat department although it handled some pre-packaged cold cuts.

Construction of the addition to the township business located off Friday road, at I-94, is nearing completion, according to Paul Friday, owner of Farmer Friday's market. Friday said the new addition will be leased to Zoschke.

Zoschke, a member of the Coloma volunteer fire department, added "I'll still answer fire calls regardless of where I'm located."

Delinquent Dad Gets Ultimatum

A Benton Harbor man has been given six weeks to find a job and resume payments on $4,878 in child support payment arrears.

Berrien Circuit Court Judge Chester J. Byrns found John W. Bethea, 608 Green avenue, in contempt of court for failing to make the court-ordered payments for three children on ADC.

Edward Pastrick, friend of the court investigator, said Judge Byrns ordered a wage assignment as soon as Bethea finds work and also ordered Bethea to make $5 weekly payments towards the arrears. He also put Bethea on two years probation.

If Bethea misses a payment, he will spend the following weekend in jail, Pastrick said the judge ordered.

Two other men were found in contempt this week for failing to make support payments.

According to Pastrick: Chester L. Polk, 311 Butter-nut, Benton was put on two years probation by Judge William White, given 90 days to find work and was ordered to make $7 weekly payments for one child on ADC plus $3 weekly payments towards an arrearage of $599.

Ollie Kiser, 567 East Britain, Benton Harbor, was put on two years probation by Judge White, ordered to make $15 weekly payments for one child on ADC plus a $100 immediate payment and $5 weekly towards an arrearage of $616.

Anspach said.

He graduated with his law degree from the University of Michigan in 1952. He paid his way through law school by working at various times as a short order cook, a rock lather and an assembler in a factory.

He also met his wife Elizabeth while a law student.

"My wife was in charge of the student loan department," he said. "I met her while trying to borrow $25."

Anspach's first job out of law school was with Kaiser Industries in both engineering and industrial relations capacities.

He went on to spend a year in Washington, D.C., with the Department of Commerce as a patent attorney. The job was almost a prerequisite to entering patent law in the private sector, he said.

In 1955, he joined Whirlpool as a patent attorney and moved to St. Joseph.

He said he decided on Whirlpool because he found the corporate atmosphere to be "very open, informal and friendly."

During the following years, he was occasionally approached by recruiters trying to get him to jump to another company. "I never had any great trouble deciding to stay here," he said.

St. Joseph has been a good place to live and raise children, he continued, and Whirlpool was on a growth pattern creating what he said were "some tremendous opportunities."

In the following years, he served in several positions in the law department including the offices of assistant general counsel and assistant secretary.

In 1967, Anspach was elected vice president, personnel. The job involved identifying candidates for managerial positions.

"We have a very strong philosophy of promoting within," he said.

When interviewing job candidates, there were two things Anspach said he always looked for: honesty and a good attitude toward team work.

Commenting on today's college graduates, Anspach said, "The people coming aboard now by and large are a lot smarter than they were 20 years ago. We're quite pleased with the schools where we interviewed."

Anspach spent the past two years in top positions with Inglis Limited, a Whirlpool affiliate headquartered in Toronto, Canada. He had been serving as chairman and chief executive officer of Inglis when he was elected president of Whirlpool.

Packer's Parent Setting Records

ROCHESTER, N.Y. — Cur-tice-Burns, Inc., parent firm of Michigan Fruit Cannery of Benton Harbor, has reported record sales and net income for both the nine months and the third quarter ended March 25, 1977.

Net income for the nine months rose to $2,715,000 from $2,190,000 in the prior year, a 25.7 per cent increase. Earnings per share were $2.20 on 1,236,130 average shares outstanding compared with $2.17 per share on 997,341 average shares outstanding last year. Sales rose to $158,213,000 from $142,833,000 in the year earlier period.

Third quarter net income reached $548,000 from $573,000 in the third quarter of 1976, a 65 per cent gain. Net income per share was 76 cents on 1,241,818 average shares outstanding compared with 47 cents on 1,228,133 average shares outstanding for the same 13 weeks last year. Sales increased to $57,518,000 compared with $47,623,000 in the year earlier period.

"A broad range of factors contributed to the increase in sales and earnings," President Hugh E. Cummings said.

"In the west, the Bernstein brand of salad dressings, part of the Nalley's Fine Foods line, has been enjoying exceptional growth. A new potato chip product, '100% Natural,' introduced by Nalley's some months ago, has rapidly become the number one potato chip item in the northwest. The product is now moving into Utah and Idaho."

"In the east," Cummings

continued, "sales of Blue Boy brand vegetables and Silver Floss sauerkraut are ahead of last year. Snyder's snack foods continue their very positive sales trends as does Brooks brand Tangey catsup. The Thank You brand puddings have expanded their distribution into South Carolina, Louisiana and Texas with excellent consumer response."

"In the private label area, we are experiencing a firming of canned vegetable prices, and the frozen vegetable category is achieving impressive sales gains. We anticipate general improvement in all of our operating divisions in the fourth quarter," Cummings concluded.

Workers Douse Paint Oven Blaze

Employees of Auto Specialties Manufacturing Co., St. Joseph, used hand fire extinguishers yesterday afternoon to put out a blaze in a paint drying oven, according to city firemen.

Firemen said the blaze occurred in the jack assembly area of the Grave street plant and caused minor damage to the drying oven. Firemen said the blaze apparently was caused by a build-up of paint in the oven. Firemen were called at 3:37 p.m.

Jazz Concert Due In Lakeshore

The Lakeshore high school jazz band will present its first annual concert Wednesday, May 4, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium. There will be no admission charge. Joining the Lakeshore jazz band as special guests will be the Lake Michigan college jazz ensemble under the direction of Dr. Donald Moely. James Bemberek directs the Lakeshore jazz band.

GOOD FELLOWS YEAR-ROUND: Atty. James Straub, chairman of 1976 Benton Harbor Exchange Club's Good Fellow Newsie sale, presents $500 check to Mrs. Barbara Henderson, administrator of Samaritan center, nonprofit counseling agency. Looking on at left is Don Peters, Exchange Club president. Grant will be used to provide counseling for senior citizens in need of professional help. Exchange Club annually earmarks a portion of Newsie sale proceeds to charity of its choice while the rest goes to Christmas fund. Mrs. Henderson said counseling for senior citizens is intended to help relieve loneliness, depression and lack of meaning in life. She said appointments for counseling may be made by calling the Samaritan center, 925-0697, which is located in the First Congregational church, Benton Harbor. (Staff photo).

Twin cities chapters of Beta Sigma Phi will celebrate the 46th anniversary of organization's founding Thursday, April 28, at 6:30 p.m. at the St. Joseph Holiday Inn.

Mrs. Bruce (Vicki) Sherer, member of Preceptor Gamma chapter and vice president of Twin Cities Council of Beta Sigma Phi, is general chairman.

Her committee chairmen include vice presidents of the chapters: Mrs. Richard V. (Arlis) Derrick, Preceptor Gamma, entertainment; Mrs. Everett (Elaine) Greager, Xi Rho, programs; Mrs. Jack (Marge) Hardy, Xi Gamma Theta, tickets and name tags, and Mrs. Charles (Susan) Schindorff, Gamma Mu, centerpieces.

Beta Sigma Phi is a social, cultural, and service organization for women — the largest of its kind in the world.

Celebrations will take place in 25 countries in which the organization's 250,000 members in over 12,000 chapters exist. The organization is non-academic, non-political, and non-sectarian. The keynote to Beta Sigma Phi is friendship.

The organization was founded in Abilene, Kansas, by Walter W. Ross.

Internationally, the chapters have created several funds: The International Loan fund, through which members help one another; the International Endowment Fund, which has donated over $1 million dollars to cancer research, cystic fibrosis, homes for underprivileged children, and many other causes; the Exemplar Fund, which helps to support Literacy Village in India, and a college scholarship fund for members or their sons or daughters.

Locally the Beta Sigma Phi council supports the extended care facilities of Berrien General hospital with proceeds from its annual Heritage ball. Each chapter has its own service projects, monthly meetings, and social events.

BUCHANAN — A Lay-Witness Mission will be held Friday through Sunday, April 28-May 1, at Faith United Methodist church, Buchanan. The public is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wickes of Dayton, Ind., will be coordinators for the event and 40 lay persons will be guests in homes of church members.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Collings and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Grant of the host church will serve as co-chairmen for the mission planning committee. Guests and their families will arrive in Buchanan Friday afternoon.

An all-church cooperative dinner will be held at 6:30 p.m. Friday and at 7:30 p.m., coordinators and lay witnesses will meet at the church.

Coffee groups will meet in homes at 10 a.m. Saturday. At noon, young people will meet for luncheon in the church fellowship hall, followed by bowling.

A 6 p.m. supper will precede a gathering at 7 p.m.

The President Teaches Bible Class

By CASPAR NANNES
Written for Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter slipped unobtrusively into his seat at one end of the spacious balcony overlooking the sanctuary in the First Baptist Church of Washington, where the "Couples Bible Class" was meeting.

Then Fred M. Gregg Jr., the class teacher, welcomed the nation's chief executive and told its members that Carter would be teaching the class that morning. The introduction was low key.

After gracefully acknowledging the introduction and after greeting the class, the man from Plains plunged into the lessons, which revolved around Christ's driving the moneylenders out of the temple.

Carter is the first President to teach a Bible class while in office, although several others taught classes before becoming chief executive. For one, William McKinley was superintendent of the Sunday School at First Methodist Church in Canton, Ohio.

Theodore Roosevelt taught a class at Christ Episcopal Church in Cambridge, Mass., for 3½ years as a Harvard undergraduate until the Episcopal priest fired him when the priest learned Roosevelt was not an Episcopalian. Roosevelt belonged to the Dutch Reformed Church and refused to change his allegiance.

Carter has a definite teaching technique, born out of years of practice. On this Sunday in March, the President would read a passage, make a few remarks about it, and then encourage the class to ask questions or make comments. Carter frequently lightened the serious aspects of the lesson with observations that drew laughter. Once he asked if the class had read a certain book and when no one said he had, admitted, "I have not read it recently."

At one point Carter asked Gregg to read the passage in John where Caiaphas, the high priest, told the Pharisees, "You do not realize that it is to your interest that one man should die for the people, instead of the whole nation being destroyed."

The President pointed out that the passage had a double meaning which Caiaphas himself did not understand.

"That was a turning point in Christ's life," he explained. "He had directly challenged in a fatal way the existing church, and there was no possible way for the Jewish leaders to avoid the challenge. So they decided to kill Jesus."

Coming to the trial of Jesus, Carter spread out his hands and said, "At Plains I have a book that thick about the trial."

He asked what one word would describe the trial.

"Illegal," replied William Raiford.

"That's right," Carter agreed. "The Jews had a rule that a trial had to be held in the daytime and in the open. Christ's trial was held at night in a home and no witnesses were called for the defense, except one."

"Also, the Jewish rule was that you had to have two witnesses to agree. Caiaphas sent out to get false witnesses but could not get three witnesses to agree."

"Further, Caiaphas as the judge started to question the witness, thereby serving as prosecuting attorney, which a judge was not supposed to be. In addition, only if Christ was not guilty could the trial be held in one day."

Throughout the lesson, Carter related what was being studied to the present day.

"Caiaphas represents an attitude that is part of all of us."

"There is a danger of the church of Christ becoming anti-Christ because, if we start to worship ourselves, there is a great temptation for us to set up our own standards. There is a danger that we may become proud and consider ourselves exceptions in God's eyes."

Relating how he finally induced Griffin Bell to become attorney general, he declared, "We should constantly devote part of our lives to help establish God's kingdom on earth. A lot of us say that prayer every day."

At one point, the President asserted, "No matter how dedicated we might be, the limit of what Christ can be for us individually must come out of our actions, our attitudes, our love."

"I would like every one of us to feel challenged by a recognition of our own shortcomings and to serve as Christ did. We have a great blessing and a great love for God that we can precipitate even more than the message by Caiaphas through John and Mark and Matthew. Do not be like Caiaphas."

Two Serving Overseas

A sister and brother of Benton Harbor are serving overseas with the missions program of the Assemblies of God, headquartered in Springfield, Mo.

Paul and Ruth Clark, children of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Clark, 2125 Ogden avenue, Benton Harbor, are both graduates of Hartford high school.

Paul is serving with Continental Teen Challenge in Wiesbaden, West Germany, where he is working with the coffeehouse ministry to link youth of that area with the local Pentecostal church. He also works with American servicemen. He attended Hope college.

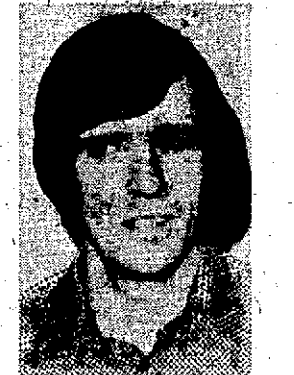

His sister, Ruth, was graduated from North Central Bible college in 1976 and is now serving in Manila, Philippines, with the Teen Challenge program there.

She formerly served two summers with the AIM (Ambassadors in Missions) and in 1973 served in West Germany and in 1974 served in Venice. She is licensed to preach with the Minnesota District of the Assemblies of God.

The Clarks' home church is Fairplain Assembly of God, Benton Harbor, where the Rev. Jack Peppie is pastor.

RUTH CLARK

PAUL CLARK

Former Residents Honored

Dr. and Mrs. Edward W.W. Lewis, formerly of St. Joseph, of Henniker, N.H., have been honored by the Southern Conference of the United Church of Christ for their outstanding service to the denomination.

The recognition was held in Winston-Salem, N.C., according to Robert L. Brinkley, president of the conference.

Dr. Lewis formerly served as pastor of First Congregational United Church of Christ, St. Joseph. He retired from the active ministry in 1974 and now conducts evangelistic meetings. According to Brinkley, Dr. Lewis was honored for being the first to propose denomination-wide insurance coverage for Congregational ministers, and for his travels to encourage missionaries.

Baha'is Elect Assembly

Baha'is of St. Joseph have elected a nine-member local spiritual assembly to guide the affairs of their community.

Officers are Mrs. Edward (Betty) Filstrup, chairman; Adrian Davis, vice chairman; Mrs. Adrian (Lillian) Davis, corresponding secretary; Paul Filstrup, treasurer, and Miss Nancy Askin, recording secretary.

Baha'is in more than 900 communities in the United States and in more than 14,000 communities around the world met April 20 to elect assemblies.

The 12-day festival period known to Baha'is as Ridvan, began April 21. It is the time during which the Baha'i Faith was first proclaimed publicly in 1863.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Can't Be Brother's Keeper

Dear Ann: I am writing about a problem that has concerned me for a long time. It started in grade school and continued into my high school years.

My brother (four years older) used to pester me sexually. He'd ask me to pose in the nude and undress in front of him. Once he even tried to rape me. I told my mother about it. She said, "Tell your father." I did. He looked at me as if I was crazy. So I kept away from my brother as best I could. It wasn't easy.

He was remarried recently to a woman who has a five-year-old daughter. My heart aches when I think of my brother alone with this little girl. Maybe not now, maybe when she "matures," he will put her through the same hell he put me through.

This is his second marriage and I don't want to make trouble. My brother and his wife seem to get along very well together.

They live 200 miles away so I have no way of watching for the signs I know too well, Ann.

should I MYOB or what? It took me many years and the help of a wonderful husband to get over my fears and anxieties. I'd hate to see my niece go through what I did. What should I do? — Concerned In Arizona

Dear Concerned: There is no way you can discuss this with your brother's wife or with the child and not stir up a hornet's nest.

If there's a chance that you can spend enough time with the youngster to win her confidence (perhaps take her for a few weekends) you might stress the importance of the body as "private property" and instruct her to tell her mother at once if ANYONE, even relatives, tries to get too "friendly." This is as far as you can go, dear.

Safety First

Dear Ann Landers: Why doesn't the United States learn something from the more civilized countries?

Every year the number of children who die in traffic accidents rises in the United States, but not in Norway and Sweden. In Norway, for example, traffic fatalities among pre-school children have been reduced by 30 per cent. The reason: traffic clubs.

Children are enrolled on their third birthdays. They receive four years of "training." The traffic clubs teach children to look both ways before crossing the street, never to cross against a red light, and never to take foolish chances.

The club also warns parents not to violate traffic rules in order that they might serve as good examples for their children.

Professor Per Scholander of Oslo studied the traffic behavior of children and discovered that the club-trained youngsters were nearly 50 per cent more cautious than non-club members when not accompanied by adults.

Any suggestions, Ann? — I Love Kids

ANN LANDERS
Dear Love: Yes. Let's hope the National Safety Council

(which does a very good job in the U.S.) sees your letter and takes some action.

CONFIDENTIAL: To Needing a Lift: Surely a happy, healthy, productive day is a great joy, but it would not be so if all our days were happy, healthy and productive. We must visit a few valleys in order to appreciate the mountaintops.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Spiritual Life Retreat

DOWAGIAC — Kalamazoo District United Methodist Women will hold a spiritual life retreat Friday and Saturday, April 29 and 30, at Crystal Springs United Methodist camp, near Dowagiac.

Cost of the retreat is $12. Reservations may be made through Tuesday, April 26, by contacting Mrs. Arthur Morrell, 730 Beechwood drive, Niles, 49120.

Mrs. J.W. (Lillian) Lane of Faith United Methodist church, Chicago, will be retreat leader. Mrs. Lane has been active in district and conference work and is a certified lay speaker and retreat leader.

Schedule Area Events

THREE OAKS — Annual River Valley open house will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday, April 24, at River Valley high school.

THREE OAKS — Three Oaks Woman's club will meet at 2 p.m. Tuesday, April 26, at the home of Mrs. Edna Seifert.

The program will be on "Plants."

Mrs. Donald Lee will be co-leader.

THREE OAKS — Mrs. Nancy Harrington will present a book review at a dinner meeting of the Three Oaks Book club Wednesday, April 27, at 7 p.m. at the Three Oaks Congregational church.

THREE OAKS — Three Oaks Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, will hold a Friendship night meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday, April 28, in the Masonic Temple.

BUCHANAN — Past Presidents Parley of Buchanan Unit 51, American Legion auxiliary, will serve dinner for the Past Commanders club of Post 51 Monday, April 25, at 6:30 p.m. at the Legion home.

A meeting will be held at 8 p.m.

BUCHANAN — Hills Corners Study club will meet Tuesday, April 26, for a 1 p.m. desert luncheon meeting at the home of Mrs. George Duis, 314 St. Joseph avenue, Niles.

Mrs. Jack Harroff will present the program, "Clothing Updating."

CLEANING IDEA

Before washing a concrete porch or steps, wet the porous surface well with plain water. Then, when you scrub it with thick detergent or soap suds, the concrete won't absorb dirty water. End up by rinsing with plenty of clean water — a good hosing off is best.

Spring Showcase

COLOMA — Coloma junior high school's Spring Showcase will be held Tuesday, April 26, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Included in the showcase will be a 38-foot by four-foot mural designed and painted by members of the school's advanced art students. The mural, designed in tribute to our nation's Bicentennial, will be hung on the wall of the school library.

Also included in the showcase will be art displays, home economics projects, shop projects, history club and drama class plays and a book sale in the school library.

Survival Film Monday

Part two of the film, "Thirty Days to Survival," will be shown Monday, April 25, at 12:15 p.m. in the Benton Harbor public library auditorium.

The film centers on the famed National outdoor leadership school in Wyoming as it challenges a group to face and appreciate not only the natural wonders around them, but their own characters as well.

The public is invited and anyone wishing to bring his lunch may do so.

Books, added to the library collection are: "How to Get your Children to do What You Want Them to do," Paul Wood, M.D.; "The Rich who Own Sports," Don Kowet; "A Visit to Haldeman and other States of Mind," Charles Mee, Jr.; "The Stork," Denison Hatch; "17 Ben Gurion," Jack Hoffenberg; "Company of Friends," John Crosby; "A Book of Common Prayer," Joan Didion; "In the Frame," Dick Francis; "Ransom Run," Martin Diber, and "The Smell Book," Ruth Winter.

Dr. Lester Coleman

I am a diabetic. The condition is handled with diet alone. I've been married for three years. We're thinking about having a child. Are there any special problems when a diabetic becomes pregnant? — Mrs. C.W., Wash.

Dear Mrs. W.:

Physicians are alert to the possibility that some cases of diabetes mellitus may have special problems that do not exist in a non-diabetic.

In a complicated way, pregnancy in a diabetic seems to change the functioning process of the body. The mother and the fetus may be adversely affected by these changes in metabolism. Some diabetics who are controlled with diet alone may, during pregnancy, need insulin in order to handle the diabetes.

It is important that all women, diabetic or not, be checked at regular intervals from the time pregnancy is first established. This sensible rule reduces considerably any complications that can occur. But the diabetic, most assuredly, should be under the constant supervision of the doctor, early and throughout the entire pregnancy. In this way, fetal mortality, which is higher in a diabetic, can be sharply reduced.

The control of weight and the exact method and timing of delivery would offer your unborn child a greater chance of being born without special risks.

I had a fracture of the jaw. I was told it would heal without an operation. Can I depend on this? — Mr. S.E., Tex.

Dear Mr. E.:

When the fragments of bone are in good position and in alignment, surgery may not be necessary. When such a fracture affects the jaw joint and interferes with proper opening and closing of the mouth, surgery is necessary. Each case is individually considered, after extensive X-rays of the jaw and jaw joint are made.

Wiring of the teeth and specific surgical procedures depend on many variables. The fact that your doctor does not feel that surgery is necessary should give you sufficient assurance that all is going well.

Can vitamins pills increase weight? Are they fattening? I want to gain weight. — Miss D.S., N.Y.

Dear Miss S.:

Vitamins themselves do not carry sufficient calories to increase weight. Some people insist that vitamins will increase their appetite. Perhaps they do, but a well-balanced, high caloric diet is a better way of gaining weight.

South's whole problem was to get in play at four or maybe five hearts. The fact that he got West to double was just icing on his cake.

Of course, dummy came down with the right cards to make five hearts a lay down, but South wasn't satisfied. He went after an overtrick.

He ruffed the opening spade and led his ace of hearts. When both opponents followed, South was ready for operation overtrick.

He led his 10 of clubs. At this point in time, the defenders could have saved the overtrick if West had played small and East dropped his king. But West put on the jack and now it didn't matter what East did.

All South had to do was to ruff a spade, play the diamond ace, ruff a diamond, ruff a spade, lead the nine of clubs and sit back.

East had held his king of clubs and had to win the trick. Then he had to lead a spade or diamond. South ruffed in dummy while discarding his last club.

Picnic Treat Kept Safe

Sandwiches are great for picnics, but hot weather requires some extra precautions. For food safety, pack salad-type sandwich fillings in insulated containers and assemble the sandwiches when you are ready to eat.

Sandwiches using cooked meats, tuna, salmon or cheese can be frozen. Take along some lettuce and tomato in separate containers. By the time you are hungry, your sandwiches will be thawed, taste fresh — and you'll be sure they are safe.

Policewoman Wins Hairy Firing Case

ST. PETERSBURG BEACH, Fla. (AP) — "Common sense should tell you a dress code designed for men can't be applied to women," says City Manager Max Royle.

And with that, he stepped in Friday and reinstated the city's first policewoman, Sherry Landsberg of Tampa.

The 24-year-old had been fired three days ago by Police Chief Gil Thivener for failing to cut her hair to dress code standards.

Royle met with Miss Landsberg on Friday and said later, "I feel I made a mistake. There was a misunderstanding. I had a chance to reconsider."

Royle said a separate dress code will be developed for women officers. Nearby St. Petersburg, for example, allows its 10 policewomen to wear long hair coiled in a knot or to wear a short wig to meet dress code standards.

Thivener said he did not approve of Royle's action.

"I felt I was right," said Thivener. "I've been overruled by the city manager."

Thivener said he gave Miss Landsberg an order to get her hair cut to comply with the dress code for all officers and she didn't obey it.

Miss Landsberg, who began duty on March 24, said earlier she had her long hair cut to where it touched the collar when it was curled under. She said she offered to cut her hair shorter but Thivener refused to change his decision to fire her.

"An officer has to follow the rules and regulations of this police department," said Thivener at the time of the firing. "She indicated she had talked to other people who told her she didn't have to comply with the same dress code as other officers."

"I fired her for flat-out insubordination and refusing to follow the same dress code as other officers."

Miss Landsberg could not be reached for comment after her reinstatement Friday. She had complained earlier that the dress code "said how long your sideburns and mustache could be and that your hair couldn't touch your collar or protrude over your ears."

Costly Slaw

LONDON (AP) — Cabbages sold in British shops today for as much as $1.70 each, double the usual price.

The National Farmers Union blamed the meteoric rise of the lowly vegetable on the late arrival of spring, lingering effects of last year's drought and the price of Dutch imports.

Milliken Urges Quick Action On PBB Bill

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has urged the state Senate to hurry passage of a House-approved bill that would substantially lower the amount of PBB permitted in Michigan food products.

Described by observers as one of the governor's strongest stands on the issue, the letter said the state must act on "presumptive evidence of PBB's possible long term danger to humans."

Milliken took issue Friday with those who say we should wait for hard, scientific proof of the chemical's effects.

Such evidence, he said in a letter to the Senate Agriculture and Consumer Affairs Committee, could take five to ten years "and a decade from now might be too late."

The Senate committee held hearings this week on the measure which would lower the legal PBB level in food from .3 parts per million to .02 parts per million. Senate leaders including Majority Leader William Faust, D-Westland and GOP floor leader Robert Davis of Gaylord say they believe the bill has a good chance of passing once it gets past the Agriculture and Appropriations Committee. Once the bill gets to the full Senate, it will require a two-thirds margin or 26 votes to take effect immediately. If it passes with less than 26 votes it would not take effect until April 1, 1978.

Can't Link PBB With Illness

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A federal scientist says some illnesses among Michigan farm families with high exposure to PBB might be related to pre-existing health problems.

Dr. Clark Heath of the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta said after interviewing 19 farm families this week their health problems are legitimate, but the cause is unclear.

"The illnesses are quite real and in some cases serious," Heath said Friday in a statement distributed by the state health department. "But there are no obvious clues to explain fully why these particular people are sick."

He said in some cases it appears that illnesses might be related to pre-existing health problems and he cannot say definitely whether any of the problems are related to PBB exposure.

Heath, an epidemiologist, was brought in as part of the state agency's long-term study of possible human health problems resulting from PBB (polybrominated biphenyl).

NOW Convention Maps ERA Push

By JUDITH RUSKIN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — The troubled Equal Rights Amendment is receiving a boost this weekend as the National Organization of Women stages its national convention.

A crowd of nearly 500 people gathered Friday in downtown Kennedy Square and rallied around cries of "hey, hey, whaddya say — ratify the ERA."

Leaders of the women's movement spelled out the need to continue pressing for passage of the ERA.

"The majority of the people in this country want the ERA," said Gloria Steinem, editor of Ms. magazine. "What is on trial is not the ERA, but the democracy of state legislatures."

Three more state legislatures must ratify the Equal Rights Amendment by March 1979 before it can become the 27th amendment to the Constitution. Thirty-five states have ratified the ERA, although three have since rescinded approval. The legality of rescinding the ERA has not been tested in the courts.

Delegates to NOW's 10th anniversary conference said their major goal was to map out a new strategy for passage of the ERA.

"It's becoming apparent some of our strategy won't get it through by 1979," a NOW spokeswoman said.

Nearly 1,300 delegates were expected to attend the three-day conference, which features workshops, speeches and entertainment. New officers will be elected on Sunday.

The wet weather did not dampen the enthusiasm at the lunch-time rally. Delegates cheered and clapped as speakers urged them to fight for the ERA.

"I want you to move down from this place as disciples for the rest of the country," Detroit city councilwoman Erma Henderson told the crowd.

Helen Milliken, wife of Michigan Gov. William Milliken, said the time had come to "recognize the individual dignity of each man and woman."

Author Betty Freidan, the first NOW president, and Karen DeCrow, the outgoing president, also addressed the rally. Only one male speaker appeared on the platform — Detroit Mayor Coleman Young.

A local anti-ERA group called Breakthrough appeared toward the end of the rally and stood at the edge of the crowd

Tell 'Em Number Circuit Judge Says

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — If customers dial information for the phone number of "The Athletic Supporter," they should be given the number, a circuit court has ruled.

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. contended it found the sporting goods store's name "distasteful" and refused to list the number with information operators.

William Berris, owner of the Southfield store, sued the phone company after it refused to list his business when it opened last month.

Berris's suit asked for up to $70,000 in damages for loss of business and violation of his rights under the First Amendment.

A spokesman for the telephone company said he did not know if Bell would continue to oppose listing of Berris' firm.

The Oakland County court order Friday gave the utility until May 12 to reply to the restraining order.

Pesticide Production To Resume

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Muskegon County chemical company says it will resume production of a toxic pesticide ingredient it dumped in a lake for a decade.

The decision by Hooker Chemical Co. of Whitehall drew critical comments Friday from state officials. Andrew Hogarth, Michigan's water quality administrator, said he probably would extend a deadline to allow the public an opportunity to voice any objections. Hooker said in February it was suspending production of C56, a pesticide component it dumped in White Lake. The company said C56 cost too much to manufacture.

The pesticide component has contaminated White Lake fish. Its production aroused community opposition, but opponents quieted down when Hooker declared it was ceasing production.

The western Michigan firm's letter saying it would resume production arrived in state offices late Thursday. That was less than a day before the deadline for public reaction to a pollution discharge permit proposed for the firm. The state discharge permit would allow Hooker to dump some chemicals into White Lake. Opponents of C56 dumping had supported issuance of the permit because it would not allow discharge of that chemical without special state approval. Now the company wants the permit amended to allow production of C56.

"There (Hooker's February statement) appears to have been a ploy to appease the concern of the citizens during the public input period," said one official at the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. Hogarth said the state probably will extend by at least one week the deadline for public reaction to the proposed discharge permit.

Cross-Examination Weakens VA Nurses Trial Testimony

DETROIT (AP) — The son of an Ann Arbor Veterans Administration Hospital patient has testified he does not know exactly how long a nurse stood at his stricken father's bedside and failed to administer aid.

Under questioning by defense lawyers Friday, Richard Gasmire said he may have watched former nurse Leonora Perez for as little as two seconds before coming to the conclusion that she was doing nothing to help his father.

Gasmire testified Thursday Mrs. Perez stood mesmerized at his father's bedside and did not try to help him when his father, Charles, 89, suffered a breathing failure July 29, 1975.

The younger Gasmire testified initially Friday that he watched the nurse at his father's bedside for a total of two minutes as the old man suffered a breathing failure.

But under cross-examination, Gasmire said he may have watched Mrs. Perez stand motionless for as little as two seconds.

"... I didn't have a stopwatch," Gasmire responded at one point in his testimony.

Mrs. Perez, 32, and Filipina Narciso, 30, are on trial in U.S. District Court, charged with murdering two patients and poisoning seven others with the powerful muscle-relaxant drug Pavulon in July and August 1975.

Both women, who worked in the intensive care unit that summer, have said they are innocent.

The government has charged that Gasmire's father is one of the patients who suffered the mysterious breathing failures. In all, there were more than 30 unexplained respiratory arrests between July 1 and Aug. 15, 1975, at the hospital. Several of the victims died.

Two doctors testified that Gasmire's breathing failure was unexpected.

Carter Sounds Veto Warning On Income, Business Tax Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is warning Congress he may veto any tax bill that includes a Republican-sponsored proposal for a $7.9 billion income tax cut or business tax breaks.

"I am not in favor of continuing the business tax credit that the Senate voted yesterday," Carter said at his news conference Friday.

The President asked Congress last week to jettison the business tax breaks along with his $50-per-person rebates. He said then that he would veto as irresponsible any permanent cut in the income tax rates, which the Republicans originally proposed as an alternative to the rebates.

The Senate votes Tuesday on the GOP tax cut proposal.

The bill already contains about $4 billion annually in tax cuts through changes in the standard deduction for taxpayers who do not itemize. Carter favors those changes.

The Senate, refusing to scrap Carter's original request for a $3.3 billion business tax cut over two years, voted to increase it to $4.1 billion. "My own position against the business tax credit has been very clearly expressed, and I will have to decide at the time the bill gets to my desk, if it passes, whether I can accept it or not," Carter said.

The GOP tax cut proposal would benefit all taxpayers, but is mainly aimed at those in the low- and middle-income brackets. More than 90 per cent of the benefits would go to those who earn less than $30,000 a year.

Differences between the Senate and House versions of a tax bill will be worked out by a joint conference committee.

Groucho's 'Friend' Stripped Of Power

By RICHARD SALTUS
Associated Press Writer

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Erin Fleming, the 37-year-old manager and companion of Groucho Marx, has been stripped of her authority to handle the affairs of the ailing comedian. Screenwriter Nat Perrin, who has known Marx since 1931, was appointed temporary guardian of the 86-year-old comedian Friday by Superior Court Judge Edward Rafeedie, who urged him to be "fiercely independent."

Miss Fleming was removed as conservator on the petition of Marx's son, Arthur, who claimed that she had been abusive to the comedian and had frequently given him tranquilizers against his doctor's orders. "My only concern is Mr. Marx's welfare and health, and I'm going to do my damndest to see that he gets well," Perrin, 72, said after the hearing.

Miss Fleming and Arthur Marx, 56, are vying to become permanent guardian of Marx, whose estate is estimated at nearly $3 million. A May 13 hearing is scheduled on permanent conservatorship. Rafeedie interviewed two other individuals, business managers Roy Kaufman and Howard Bernstein, for the temporary conservatorship.

He gave Perrin, who wrote for the Marx Brothers, power to protect the welfare of Marx. Rafeedie cited Perrin's "very great affection" for the frail comedian, adding "I believe he will do an outstanding job." Although Perrin technically joins Miss Fleming, 37, as a co-conservator, the judge's suspension of her powers left her virtually without authority.

The order ended almost a week of testimony about whether Miss Fleming was fit to handle Marx's affairs. A large part of the testimony dealt with Miss Fleming's alleged physical and verbal abuse of the comedian.

Witnesses for Marx's son said they found hypodermic needles and syringes concealed at the comedian's home in Trousdale Estates. The son contended the needles showed Miss Fleming was a threat to Marx's life. However, the comedian's only surviving brother, Zeppo, 74, testified that Groucho loved Miss Fleming and that separation from her would "definitely be detrimental to his health and might kill him."

MARX'S RULING: Arthur Marx (left), son of comedian Groucho Marx, and Erin Fleming, temporary conservator of Groucho's estate, arrive at court Friday in Santa Monica, Calif. Judge suspended the powers of Erin Fleming as Groucho's temporary conservator and appointed a long-time friend of the comedian, Nat Perrin, to handle his affairs. (AP Wirephoto)

BAILEY'S ATTORNEY BLAMES MILLIKEN

Claims Extradition Order Faulty

By JOHN SHURR
Associated Press Writer

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — An extradition order from Michigan was improperly drafted, an attorney representing state Rep.-elect William Bailey has told the Rhode Island Supreme Court.

John O'Neill Jr., Bailey's chief defense lawyer, said Friday the Michigan order named a Rhode Island state police detective as both arresting officer and receiving officer. O'Neill said that was highly unusual.

Bailey is wanted in Michigan to serve a sentence of two to four years for stealing 31 record albums from an Algonac department store in 1973. He also is fighting in the state Supreme Court to be seated in the Rhode Island House.

After hearing the arguments, the Supreme Court immediately went on to other cases. It was not known when a ruling would be reached, but it was expected to be soon.

Under questioning from the five-member high court, O'Neill was unable to cite any specific case law supporting his claim that the arresting and receiving officer should not be the same person.

O'Neill said it was common practice in extradition cases for an officer in the asylum state, in this case Rhode Island, to make the arrest and the officer in the requesting state to take custody and transport the subject.

O'Neill also attempted to argue that a Supreme Court order to seat Bailey would exempt the lawmaker-elect from being extradited.

However, special assistant Atty. Gen. Seymour Posner said Bailey would have to be extradited even if the Supreme Court should eventually rule that he is entitled to his House seat.

On several occasions, Justice Joseph Paulino pointed out to O'Neill that it was his responsibility to show only that the Michigan extradition order was improperly drafted.

"You have not shown us anything that shows the governor of Michigan can't commission anyone he wants — in this case Capt. (Edward) Pare (of the Rhode Island state police)," Paulino said.

Posner argued that the state believes the extradition order signed by Michigan Gov. William Milliken and Rhode Island Gov. J. Joseph Garrahy is in order and mandates Bailey's return.

Bailey, a Providence Democrat, was elected to the General Assembly last November, but was denied his seat because of his felony record, which included larceny convictions in several states.

Cawthorne To Visit China

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — House Republican Leader Dennis Cawthorne of Muskegon will visit the People's Republic of China next month. Cawthorne will make the trip as part of a 16-member delegation of state and local politicians from around the country. He was selected by the National Committee on United States-China Relations, a private citizens group which sponsors educational, cultural and sports exchanges. The group will be in China May 17-June 1. No tax monies are involved in the trip, Cawthorne said.

Cuban Dancers Coming To U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Hank Aaron, Harry Belafonte and Fidel Castro have combined forces to bring two Cuban dancers to the United States.

A spokesman for the Alvin Ailey Dance Company said Friday that the Cuban government has agreed to send Maria Lorente and Lazaro Carreno to perform in a May 5 benefit gala at the New York State Theatre.

Solar Farm Home Unique Idea

By DON HEMAN
Associated Press Writer
DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — An Iowa architect has designed a farm home of the future that combines the latest in solar technology with the practical aspects of the soddy that pioneers built.

"It certainly is unique," remarked Oliver Gillespie, director of Living History Farms, where the $125,000 farmstead of the future designed by Ray D. Crites of Ames will be built.

Crites said the home will use 20 per cent of the energy now used by a conventional home of the same size — 3,471 square feet. Included in that square footage are such things as a tornado shelter and two greenhouses.

Living History Farms, located

$17,000 grant from the Iowa Energy Policy Council. Gillespie said private donations will cover a major part of construction costs.

Crites said the energy key is a and 77 degrees by the end of the home heating cycle.

The concrete structure will be partially built below grade. It will be covered by earth terraces of three to eight feet in about the soddies they had to live in for lack of other building materials.

"These beneficial effects come from the natural earth temperatures and transpiration of plant materials which control heat buildup at the earth's surface in the summer and tend to provide an insulating mat in the winter," the designer said.

The home will have a southern exposure. Crites said it is contoured to exclude the summer sun, yet catch some of it the rest of the year for heating purposes. The window will be equipped with insulating and reflecting drapes.

HOME BUILDING & OTHER CONSTRUCTION NEWS

just outside Des Moines, offers people a chance to see working models of farmsteads from vintage 1840 to the present.

The future farmstead was designed with the help of a domed "solar pond." It will hold a salt water mixture to store summer's heat and winter's cold.

Crites said the pond would reach 200 degrees by late fall depth and planted in native grasses.

Crites said the idea takes advantage of the summer coolness and winter warmth that pioneers found most attractive

Old English Cottage Has Both Charm And Comfort

By LARRY FARNSWORTH

Calling all romantics, including those with a practical side to their natures, here is a house plan which captures the charm of a dormer-windowed cottage for two, yet also offers spacious accommodations for weekend or vacation visitors.

There is a warm, old English air about this home. It is derived, perhaps, from that steep-pitched shake roof and the diamond-paned half glass front door. The massive stone chimney plays its own starring role in the overall effect. And, note how the use of the same trim provides a pleasant coordination of the door and window motifs.

Inside, the oversized front-to-back living room captivates with its raised hearth and view of the rear patio. An open staircase at the back lends an additional touch.

Note, too, how the open planning adds spaciousness to the dining and kitchen areas and see the separate side entrance to the parallel kitchen.

The large master bedroom, with its own bath opening from a laundry room, completes the ground floor accommodations.

This house has big rooms and big closets too; note that first floor bedroom closet for example.

You may purchase complete working drawings, material lists and plan books from Larry Farnsworth, P.O. Box 1841, Las Vegas, Nev. 89101.

New Home Starts Hint At Big Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — A record number of housing starts last month is bolstering an industry view that 1977 will be the best year ever for new home construction.

A government economist was more restrained, but still described the March housing figures released this week as "very very encouraging."

The figures released by the Census Bureau for new, one-family home construction put the seasonally adjusted annual rate at 1,325,000. The old record of 1,431,000 was set in February.

Michael Sumichrast, chief economist for the National Association of Homebuilders, said the figures confirm that "We're going to have a record year in single-family housing."

The Commerce Department's chief economist, Courtenay Slater, said the report was encouraging, but said she could not predict a record for single family housing starts on the basis of the March figures alone.

The seasonally adjusted annual rate for all housing starts was put at 2,127,000, compared with 1,426,000 in March of 1976.

an increase of almost 50 per cent.

Both Sumichrast and Mrs. Slater said part of the March jump probably was due to the start of many homes due for construction in January but postponed because of severe winter weather.

New Steel Firm Eyeing Plant

CLEVELAND (AP) — A founder of a firm that plans to build a $50 million specialty steel mill from scratch says the sites under consideration are in Ashtabula County and the Toledo area.

Jack Born, vice president of the newly chartered Huron Steel Co. Inc., said this week the company will construct a mill that will produce 250,000 tons of high-quality carbon and alloy steels for the forging industry.

The company expects to serve markets within 500 miles of Cleveland and already has committed much of its production capacity to Ohio and Michigan forging industry customers.

Drug Case Ends In Second Hung Jury

A Berrien Circuit court jury yesterday was unable, for the second time, to reach a verdict in one man's trial, while a second jury returned a guilty verdict on a Benton Harbor man who disappeared during the trial.

Judge William S. White declared a mistrial for Chicagoan Raul Ariel Perez, 29, when jurors reported they were unable to reach a verdict.

Perez, who was tried on a charge of possession of heroin with intent to deliver, was remanded to the county jail in lieu of $50,000 bond to await a third trial on the charge. The first trial was in February. In another trial Friday before Judge Julian E. Hughes, a jury found Frankie Lane Barber, 22, of 254 Jefferson street, Benton Harbor, guilty of possession of heroin. Hughes issued a bench warrant for Barber Thursday after he disappeared during a noon recess.

Barber was arrested on the charge Aug. 11 in a raid at a Benton Harbor home by Berrien Metro Narcotics officers and Benton Harbor and Benton township police. Berrien narcotics officers reported they confiscated about $100 worth of suspected heroin at the home.

The second mistrial for Perez was declared by Judge White Friday after the jury deliberated on the case for more than 7 hours.

He was charged with possessing a pound of heroin with intent to deliver March 26 in Coloma township. He was arrested when Coloma city police stopped to investigate a car with its hood up on Friday road at I-94 and found the alleged heroin, which officers said had a street value of $250,000.

A co-defendant, Pedro C. Garcia, 33, was convicted of the same charge Perez faces and was placed on five years probation by White and ordered returned to Mexico by U.S. Immigration authorities for being in this country illegally. Garcia, during his trial, claimed he had no knowledge that heroin was in Perez' car.

Perez used the same defense — claiming he was merely in the car and didn't know there was any heroin in it.

If You Don't Succeed...

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich. (AP) — An 8-year-old Iron Mountain boy is not easily discouraged. Kirk Anderson made four efforts at drawing a design for the 1978 Christmas Seal to represent Michigan. He took the theme "The Holidays at My House" and drew a picture showing himself and his father decorating the family tree. Kirk found out the picture was too small. The second time, he made a small mistake and the drawing was ruined. As he completed the third effort, he spilled paint all over the drawing. Kirk sat down and promptly drew the picture for a fourth time, submitted it — and won. His design was chosen from over 400 entries in the state and it becomes part of 54 different designs on the 1978 sheet of Christmas Seals. The boy's parents said they did not know he was entering the contest until he told them he had won.

Subpoenas Out In GM Case

DETROIT (AP) — More than two dozen subpoenas have been issued so far in a federal grand jury investigation of General Motors in Detroit, according to a government source. The grand jury is investigating criminal tax fraud allegations against GM. GM has declined to disclose which officials may have been subpoenaed so far. Spokesmen for the auto manufacturer have said repeatedly the company has followed proper tax procedures. Earlier, Meno Pillaris, an attorney with the Internal Revenue Service regional counsel's office in Cincinnati, was sworn in as an assistant U.S. attorney in Detroit. U.S. Attorney Philip Van Dam refused to discuss the probe, but it is believed Pillaris will coordinate the grand jury phase of the investigation.

Three Life Terms Levied

DETROIT (AP) — An Inskter mother has been sentenced to three concurrent life terms for conviction of second-degree murder in the rape-beating death of her three-year-old daughter. Wayne County Circuit Judge Michael Stacey said in sentencing the woman, Scarlet Smith, 21, "Your role in these crimes demonstrates a malevolence and callousness almost beyond measure." She showed no emotion. Miss Smith and her boy friend, Charles E. Pillette Jr., were convicted by separate juries for the Oct. 3 slaying of Josette Smith, whose body was found in an ice chest Oct. 6.

They Still Wanna Sell

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP) — Battle Creek City Manager Gordon Jaeger says a letter he was sent to Cedar Point Inc. informing the Ohio firm plans are proceeding to sell it 760 acres of land for a new amusement park. Cedar Point announced Thursday it abandoned plans to build an amusement park in Battle Creek. But Jaeger said Friday the city has not been notified of the decision. He said Cedar Point has already paid $40,000 toward the $300,000 land deal. Jaeger said the city has no intention of refunding the money if the purchase does not go through. He added that officials want to avoid taking the matter into court if at all possible. The original plans called for a $25 million amusement park to be built here. It was being promoted by Battle Creek Unlimited.

Medicare Payment Probe Due

Medicare payments to doctors and other health service providers in Michigan will be probed by a nine-member team named by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The team may recommend that payments to providers stop if there is evidence of overcharges or bad services. HEW makes the final decision on any termination of Medicare providers. The special review teams were written into law by Congress to help end abuses in the Medicare program. The Michigan team is comprised of four doctors, three health care professions and two consumer representatives.

The Show Must Go On

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — The Doobie Brothers were delayed by a rough-running airplane engine, but members of the rock group still got to the concert on schedule. The pilot had hoped to land at Mount Pleasant, where the musicians had a concert, but discovered by radio the repair facilities were inadequate to handle the problem. He landed in Saginaw, 50 miles away, and the musicians went on by rented car in time for their concert date Thursday. An engine on the 35-year-old twin-engine propeller-driven craft was repaired at Tri-City Airport. A spokesman for the Doobie Brothers said Friday it was the first trouble with the plane in the three years the group had been flying in it.

GOP Chief Going North

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Republican State Chairman William McLaughlin will make a four-day tour of the Upper Peninsula next week to discuss the GOP's political plans for the next two years with party leaders. McLaughlin said the tour will take him through nearly every county in the U.P. It begins in St. Ignace on Monday and will go to Manistique, Escanaba, Menominee, Iron Mountain, Houghton, Ironwood, White Pine, Baraga, Marquette, Newberry and Sault Ste. Marie. McLaughlin said he will discuss campaign strategy, improving the GOP's "get-out-the-vote" file, recruitment of candidates and improving county finance committees.

College Loses Labor Fight

DETROIT (AP) — Three faculty members at Shaw College of Detroit who contend they were fired because of union activities have received a favorable ruling from a National Labor Relations Board judge. The board ordered Shaw College to offer reinstatement to the three and to pay limited back pay to 10 other dismissed teachers. The board did not order reinstatement for the other 10. In a 37-page ruling, NLRB Administrative Law Judge John Corbely ruled administrators of Shaw were guilty of unfair labor practices and refusal to bargain collectively in good faith. Judge Corbely's order stipulated the privately-operated college must pay back salary, plus interest, to the three teachers from the time their contracts expired last May. School President Romulus Murphy said Shaw likely would appeal the findings. Shaw is a private college with 1,074 students and 70 teaching personnel. Spokesmen for the school said 36 bargaining sessions had been held since the Shaw College Professors Association became bargaining unit for the faculty in October 1975.

High Crash Areas Will Be Tallied

Traffic accident information that will pinpoint the high crash areas in Berrien county for 1976 will be presented by the Michigan state police April 29 at 10 a.m. at the Berrien county road commission office, 2580 East Napier, Benton township.

Police, government officials and safety engineers will be given the information, made available by the Michigan Accident Location Index system, a computer program the state police developed.

The information will also show the cause of the accidents in the high crash areas. This is an aid to taking safety measures, according to state police.

Goodyear Has Record Quarter

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Putting record quarters back to back, Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. reported first-quarter sales climbed to $1.58 billion and that earnings also reached a new peak.

Net income for the period was $99 million or 82 cents per share, the company said.

The figures compared with the final 1976 quarter's then record sales of $1.53 billion and last year's first-quarter net income of $43.7 million or 60 cents a share, when sales totaled $1.45 billion.

Goodyear Chairman Charles J. Pilliod Jr. said virtually every segment of the firm's operations contributed. But he said "substantially improved" earnings by foreign subsidiaries showed a sharp upswing in European business.

"There are no signs of a slackening" in the second quarter, Pilliod added, predicting the year's sales will easily exceed $6 billion for the first time. Last year's $5.7 billion is the current record.

He also predicted the year's earnings will break the 1972 record of $192.5 million.

The report came on the first anniversary of the U.S. rubber industry's 1976 strike in which Goodyear, along with the other major tiremakers, lost millions of dollars in profits and, industrywide, an estimated $200 million in sales.

Gypsy Eviction Stirs Furor

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — The police eviction of two bands of Gypsies from the state has stirred complaints from national leaders of Gypsies and charges that the action violated the group's constitutional rights. The evictions occurred Thursday when state police escorted two caravans of cars carrying over 40 men, women and children to the Massachusetts border. The Gypsies were evicted after several weeks of complaints from merchants that they were crowding stores, distracting clerks and stealing. One of the two groups of Gypsies evicted from New Hampshire had earlier been escorted by police from Boothbay Harbor, Maine, after a grocer blamed them for the theft of $3,500. The group was not questioned by Maine authorities.

Austria May Get Jets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration is expected to approve the sale to Austria of 24 Israeli fighterbombers equipped with American jet engines, sources say. The deal would be worth $110 million to $140 million, depending on the equipment. The sources said Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance had recommended approval of the sale and that a final decision would be made within a week. However, Austrian officials said their government has not yet decided whether to buy the Kfir jets, planes from another country or none at all. Sweden was understood to be offering its Viggen jets.

El Salvadorod Crisis Deepens

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — President Arturo Aranda Molina faced a deepening crisis today as Communists backed the kidnapping of the foreign minister while Catholic church leaders accused the government of torturing priests. Borgonovo, 37, a member of one of the nation's wealthiest families, became the second top-ranking official to be abducted this year when a group of armed men broke into his home and seized him Tuesday. Borgonovo was reported "in good health" Friday by his leftist abductors. The Roman Catholic church, meanwhile, issued a statement demanding the government "cease torturing and threatening priests." The statement by the archbishopric of San Salvador gave no specifics.

Martial Law In Pakistan

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — The army, under orders to shoot curfew violators on sight, enforced martial law in Pakistan's largest cities today after one of the bloodiest days in six weeks of political violence. As many as 34 persons died Friday, most in clashes between army troops or police and demonstrators demanding the resignation of Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto. An general strike called by the opposition was observed in many cities Friday and protest marches were staged in Karachi, Sargodha, Lyallpur, Multan, Peshawar, Bannu, Nawabshah, Sukkur, Imirpur, Rawalpindi, Quetta and Dera Ghazi Khan. In martial law areas, such as Lahore, some protesters shouted anti-government slogans from their rooftops.

Tax Withholding Slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon says it will begin withholding state income taxes from the paychecks of service personnel July 1. The new procedure was permitted by legislation Congress passed last year lifting a ban on withholding state income taxes from the paychecks of servicemen and women. A Pentagon spokesman said it was still uncertain whether the withholding for the District of Columbia and the 34 states which have requested it will begin on the same date, however. The 34 states that have requested withholding are:

Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Delaware, Georgia, Hawaii, Arizona, Virginia, South Carolina, Mississippi, North Carolina, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Utah, New Mexico, Kentucky; Massachusetts, Maryland, Indiana, Minnesota, North Dakota, Ohio, Missouri, Kansas, Maine, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Oklahoma, New York, Louisiana, Oregon, Nebraska, Iowa and West Virginia.

Two Pedestrians Among The Injured

Six people, including two pedestrians, were injured Friday in six traffic accidents investigated by Twin Cities area police.

The pedestrians, both treated and released from Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, were identified by police as Marjorie Heyn, 56, of 2706 Lakeshore drive, apartment #04, St. Joseph, and Robert Gaiser, 15, of 5843 Ponderosa drive, Stevensville.

St. Joseph police said Marjorie Heyn was struck by an auto while walking across Lakeshore drive near her residence at 3:45 p.m. Police said the southbound auto was driven by Thomas S. Pitts Jr., 18, of 7270 Red Arrow highway, Stevensville. No tickets were issued, police said.

Berrien sheriff's deputies said Robert Gaiser was struck by an auto about 2:35 p.m. south of John Beers road, near Lakeshore high school.

Deputies said the auto was driven by Benno Hinrichs, 17, of Box 101 Cleveland, Route 1, Baroda, who had left the school lot and was southbound on Cleveland. No tickets were issued, deputies said.

Deputies said Mary Dickson, 18, of 983 Hillendale road, Benton township, was injured but not hospitalized about 5:15 p.m.

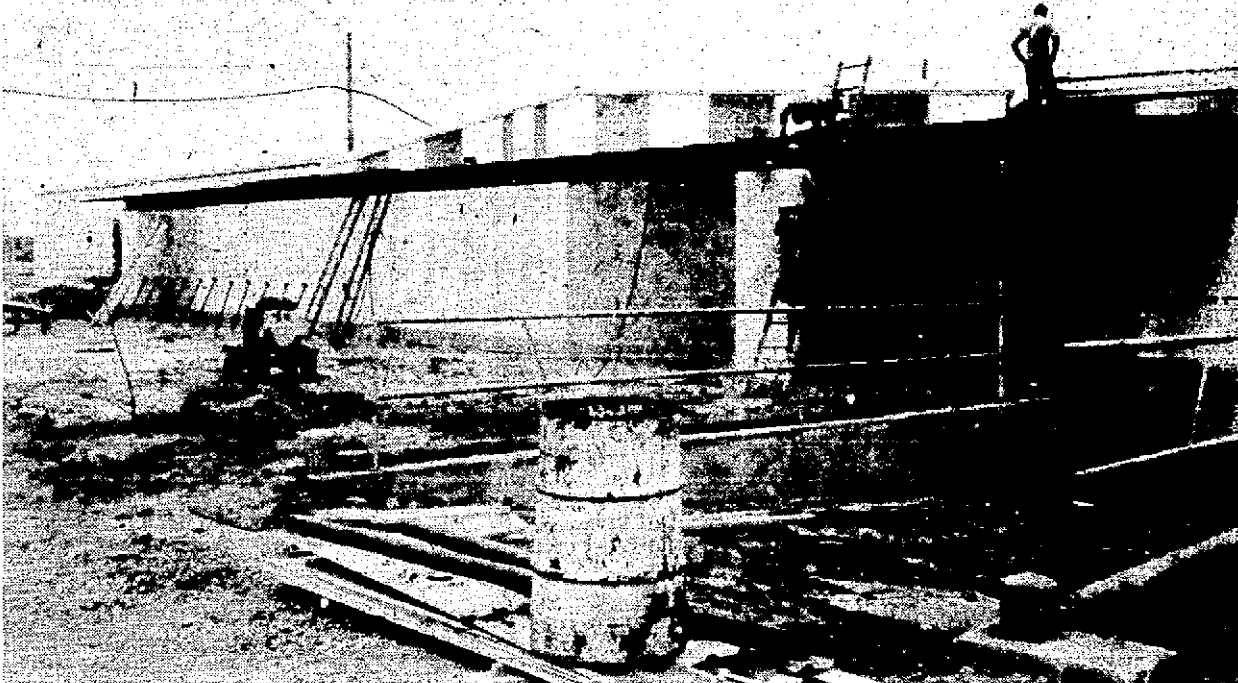

Friday when an auto she was riding in and another collided on Napier avenue, at the I-94 entrance ramp, Benton township. She was a passenger in an auto operated by Larry G. Dickson, 25, of the same address, who was reported unharmed. Also reported unharmed was the other driver, Waldemar Pollee, 52, of 1955 West John Beers road, Stevensville. No tickets were issued, deputies said.

Deputies said Frances Marie Geary, 67, of 2810 West Marquette Woods road, Stevensville, suffered cuts and bruises when an auto she was driving and another collided about 7:46 a.m. on Red Arrow highway at Marquette Woods road, Lincoln township. She was not hospitalized, deputies said.

The other driver was identified as William J. Gregory, 24, of 604 West John Beers road. Deputies said Frances Geary was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way, and Gregory was cited for driving while his license was suspended.

St. Joseph police said Diane E. Craft, 34, of 1132 Pearl street, St. Joseph, suffered apparently minor injuries about noon Friday, when an auto she was driving and another collided on Lakeshore drive, just south of LaSalle avenue. The other driver, Ben N. Teitel, 38, of 222 North Shore drive, South Haven, was reported unharmed. Police said Diane Craft was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way.

Benton township police said a passenger was injured about 5:17 p.m. in a two-car collision at Napier and Crystal avenues. Deputies said she was a passenger in an auto driven by Adolph G. Kushman, 74, of the same address. The other driver was identified as Michael T. Hawkins, 20, Route 4, Coloma. Adolph Kushman was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way, police reported.

COOLER PLANT EXPANDS: Workmen continue expansion at Bangor Cooler plant, 200 Dunbar street, Hartford. A 20 by 92 foot addition will be for company's offices and fourth addition to facility since it first opened on Feb. 2, 1965. Firm which makes insulated panels for its easy-to-assemble walk-in cooler and freezer units employs 52 people. A 40 by 160 foot manufacturing addition was also completed a month ago. Sauer's Construction, Eau Claire, is building the $20,000 office addition. (Vivian DeMorrow photo)

Salutatorian

NEW BUFFALO — Two girls have been named the top academic students of New Buffalo high school's senior class this year. Cynthia Kail has been named valedictorian and Kathleen Cochran has been named salutatorian, according to High School Principal Ronald Morrison.

Miss Kail, 18, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kail, 127 South Barton street, New Buffalo. She is a member of the National Honor society and the Varsity club and was a class officer in her sophomore, junior and senior years. She was a cheerleader for three years, a U.S.A. All-Star selection and New Buffalo's most valuable cheerleader.

Miss Kail has participated in softball three years, volleyball four years and basketball four years. She was captain of her volleyball team this year and also was selected most valuable basketball player. She was 1977 engineer for a day.

Miss Kail plans to attend Central Michigan university and pursue a career in criminal justice.

Miss Cochran, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Cochran, 11536 Wilson road, New Buffalo. She is a member of the National Honor society and the Varsity club.

Miss Cochran is senior class treasurer and has been a member of the student senate. She has been a cheerleader for four years and a member of the track, volleyball and basketball teams. She plans to attend the University of Michigan majoring in physical therapy.

BH Police Warn Of Roofing 'Con'

Benton Harbor Police Lt. Alfred Edwards said residents should be on the lookout for two men who may be soliciting roof repair jobs as part of a confidence scheme. Edwards said two complaints were received yesterday by residents who said they paid for roofing work that didn't correct the problems. He said the roofers, both reported to be white men, may have been in the Benton Harbor area for the past week or two. Citizens approached by men seeking to repair roofs should contact Benton Harbor police, Edwards said.

Cancer Crusade Leader Named

Mrs. Phillip (Jeanne) Merkel, 206 South Main street, Berrien Springs, has been named Berrien county Cancer Crusade area chairman for the central portion of Berrien county.

Mrs. Merkel, charged with recruiting Crusade leaders who in turn select their own neighborhood captains, has announced the following assignments: Mildred Feather, Baroda; Barbara Gill, Berrien Springs; Lou Pettis, Andrews university; Betty Johnson, Berrien township; Sue Grassel, Lincoln township; Sara Thomas, Oronoko township; Mrs. Joseph Scrina, Rayalton township; and Mrs. Ruth Newey, St. Joseph township. Crusade leaders for St. Joseph and Stevensville and Lake township are still to be announced, Mrs. Merkel stated.

Mrs. Herbert Reimers, St. Joseph, residential crusade chairman for the Berrien county unit of the American Cancer society, 1501 Niles avenue, St. Joseph, announced this year's goal is $46,385.

Mrs. Merkel is presently secretary-treasurer of the Berrien Cancer unit. She has served as Berrien township drive chairman for the past two years and is also a director of the Berrien Springs Jaycees. Mr. and Mrs. Merkel, parents of two children, are members of the Berrien Springs United Methodist church.

when they were thrown from a car which failed to make a curve on Red Arrow highway about one mile east of here.

State police at Paw Paw said Michael Pompey, 25, and Robert Chapman, 15, both of Kalamazoo, were pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. David Millard, Paw Paw, a deputy Van Buren county medical examiner.

Police said they were not immediately able to determine which person was driving the car.

Troopers said the car was headed west on Red Arrow highway near the Sill Farms Market when it ran off the road, striking two trees. Officers said they believe the car rolled over at least once before coming to a stop in the lot of the market. The accident was reported by a passing motorist about 4:30 a.m., according to police. Troopers said they were not able to immediately determine where the two had been going. The deaths brought to 12 the number of traffic fatalities in Van Buren county this year.

MANGLED CAR: Michael Pompey, 25, and Robert Chapman, 15, both of Kalamazoo, were killed when their car crashed just off Red Arrow highway about a mile east of Lawrence early this morning, according to state police at Paw Paw. Police said both victims were pronounced dead at crash scene. (Staff photo)

National-Standard Is Setting Records

NILES — An expanding general economy helped push sales volume for National-Standard company to record levels for the first two fiscal quarters, according to N-S Chairman T. H. Pearce. Sales volume was $134,192,000 for six months ended March 31, 1977. That is 18 per cent higher than the comparable period in 1976. Earnings were $6,031,000, or $1.44 per share, up 23 per cent from $4,915,000, or $1.17 per share a year ago, Pearce said.

The second fiscal quarter produced record sales of $70,358,000, up 14 per cent from the comparable period last year and earnings of $3,108,000 or 3.74 per share, up 5 per cent.

"The increasing strength in the general economy along with continuing strong demand from the rubber industry contributed to the company's fine performance," Pearce said.

The Wire Products group continued its high level of sales and earnings from the first quarter.

Significant improvement was also experienced in foreign operations, resulting in a profit contribution of 16 per cent of total earnings for the six months.

The other Metal Products group showed improvement in the second quarter due mainly to strong demand for flat spring steel. The Machinery group, benefiting from consolidation of operations, experienced a reduction in the operating losses that occurred last year, Pearce said.

Commenting on the energy crisis, Pearce said operating margins for the second quarter were restricted by the shortage. Some N-S plants were closed for various lengths of time. Alternate energy sources resulted in increased costs, he added.

"Incoming business remains strong at this date and the interruption of energy and resulting higher costs are behind us," Pearce said. "With a continuing improvement in the general economy, we expect the balance of the year to continue to compare very favorably with 1976," he said.

National-Standard manufactures a wide range of wire products, fabricated metal products and specialized machinery, with 22 domestic and eight foreign plants. For the year ended Sept. 30, 1976, the company reported sales volume of $222 million.

Court Battle Threatened By Allegan Prison Foes

SAUGATUCK — A citizens' group here has vowed to go to court if the state will not listen to its protests over state plans to make St. Augustine seminary into a medium security prison for some 500 prisoners.

Mrs. Pat Kammeraad of Douglas, a spokesman for the Prison Action Committee (PAC), said the committee has hired the Grand Rapids law firm of Mika, Myers, Beckett & Jones, to represent it in any legal actions against the state.

She said donations to the PAC legal fund are now being accepted. People wishing to contribute should make checks payable to the Prison Action Committee and send them to either PAC office at the Saugatuck township hall, Box 343, Saugatuck, Mich., 49453 or 77 East 8th street, Box 709-A, Holland, Mich. 49423.

Michigan Fruit Canners Appoints Veep

Ronald E. Prentice as been named vice president of production for the Michigan Fruit Canners division of Curtis-Burns, Inc.

Announcement of Prentice's promotion was made by Ray Floate, the division president.

Prentice joined the field staff of Michigan Fruit Canners' Fennville plant in 1958. He became head of the field department at Fennville in 1963 and served in this position for three years. During this tenure he was the first recipient of the Michigan Canners and Freezers Fieldman of the Year award.

Prentice was named Fennville plant manager in 1966. In 1976, he was given the added responsibility of the Division's Director of Industrial Relations and was named to Michigan Fruit Canners' operations committee. He became the Acting Vice President of Production this past January, and was permanently appointed to this position by the Curtis-Burns board on April 20.

Prentice is a 1957 graduate of Michigan State University with a Bachelor of Science in Agricultural Education. He entered the Army upon his graduation and has 7½ years in the Army Reserve as a Second Lieutenant. Following his active duty he joined Michigan Fruit Canners.

He is a member of the board of directors of the Michigan Canners and Freezers Association and is on the personnel committee of the Douglas Community hospital board. He was a member of the Fennville school board for seven years, serving as president for three of those years. He is a Past Master of Damascus Lodge No. 415 F & AM of Fennville.

Great Efforts Key NBA Wins

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The playoffs are a time when brilliant individual performances can do a lot to lift a team.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar came through for the Los Angeles Lakers. Lloyd Free for the Philadelphia 76ers and Dan Issel for the Denver Nuggets Friday night. That meant victories for all three teams as the National Basketball Association playoff quarter-finals continued.

Abdul-Jabbar was "incredible," said Lakers Coach Jerry West. The 7-foot-2 center amassed 40 points, collected 19 rebounds and blocked nine shots to power Los Angeles past the Golden State Warriors 98-86 for a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven matchup.

Free was benched in the first half for not shooting enough, but returned to bomb the Boston Celtics from long range.

"What defense is designed to stop 28-foot shots?" asked Celtics center Dave Cowens after

Free collected 30 second-half points to pace Philadelphia's 109-100 triumph over Boston and give the 76ers a 2-1 lead in their series.

Issel gave the Nuggets their lift in what he called "the biggest game of the year for us."

"If we'd lost, we'd really be in trouble," said Issel, whose 36 points and eight rebounds helped Denver score a 121-110 triumph over the Portland Trail Blazers and tie that series at one victory apiece.

The Washington Bullets-Houston Rockets series, also

Free collected 30 second-half points to pace Philadelphia's 109-100 triumph over Boston and give the 76ers a 2-1 lead in their series.

Los Angeles jumped into an 8-0 lead and never was headed, though Golden State pulled within 86-84 before Abdul-Jabbar put it away with six of 14 fourth-quarter points. Jamaal Wilkes and Robert Parish scored 16 points each for Golden State, which managed just three field goals and 11 points in the second period.

Boston continually trimmed Philadelphia's lead, pulling within 66-63 after falling behind by 13 and within 85-83 with just 3:15 left. John Havlicek led Celtics scorers with 25 points; Julius Erving topped the 76ers with 27.

The Nuggets broke the game open after Portland's Bill Walton fouled out in the fourth quarter. Maurice Lucas scored 29 points for the Trail Blazers, who hit seven of their first eight shots to take a 16-6 lead but faltered after their big center departed.

KC Survives Triple Play

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Seattle Mariners did everything a team can do in a baseball game...everything, that is, except win.

The Mariners got terrific fielding and pulled off a triple play, got splendid hitting and rallied to take a 5-4 lead in the eighth inning. But they didn't get the thing they needed most—the right pitch from Dave Pagan.

Pagan gave George Brett something good to hit and the Kansas City Bomber belted a two-run double with two out in the ninth inning to provide the Royals with a 6-5 victory Friday night.

Lee Stanton made a diving stop of Brett's hit in the right-center field gap. It stopped the ball from going to the wall, but it didn't stop the Royals' winning runs from scoring.

Earlier the Mariners scored three runs in the eighth inning on Juan Bernhardt's bases-loaded triple. And still earlier, the Mariners had pulled off their triple killing in the fourth. With runners on first and third, Darrell Porter grounded to Mariner shortstop Craig Reynolds, who forced Arnis Otis at second and threw Porter out at first. On the throw to first baseman Danny Meyer, John Mayberry tried to score and was thrown out at the plate by Meyer.

In Friday night's other American League games, the Minnesota Twins beat the Texas Rangers 4-1, the California Angels turned back the Milwaukee Brewers 7-4 and the Chicago White Sox routed the Oakland A's 8-2. Rain postponed three games—Boston at Toronto, Baltimore at Detroit and New York at Cleveland.

With two outs in the ninth,

Kansas City's Fred Patek and Pete LaCock singled. Joe Zdeb pinch-ran for LaCock and eventually scored the winning run on Brett's double.

Kansas City reliever Mark Littell, 2-1, who yielded Bernhardt's triple the inning before, picked up the victory.

Roy Smalley, Lyman Bostock and Butch Wynegar hit home runs to account for all of Minnesota's scoring as the Twins defeated Texas. Bostock hit a two-run homer in the eighth after striking out three times against Texas starter Bert Blyleven.

Wayne Simpson pitched seven strong innings and Jerry Remy keyed a three-run rally in the fifth with a triple, leading California over Milwaukee. Simpson, who gave up six hits and struck out six, gained credit for his first American League victory in nearly four years.

Chicago battered Vida Blue with four home runs, including two by Richie Zisk, and two triples to beat Oakland. Righthander Francisco Barrios profited from the heavy hitting and pitched a four-hitter, striking out 10 in his first start of the season.

Zisk hit a two-run homer in the first inning, snapped a 2-2 tie with a bases-empty homer in the third and drove in a run in the ninth with a double, his fourth hit of the game.

Lamar Johnson's first homer of the season, a two-run drive in the fifth, made the score 7-2 and finished off Blue, 0-2.

Houk Is After Outfielder

DETROIT (AP) — The rain wouldn't go away but one of the Detroit Tigers' pitchers soon will be going away.

Manager Ralph Houk says he's still looking for a righthanded hitting outfielder and, when he finds one, he'll drop a pitcher.

Friday's Baltimore-Detroit rainout reinforces the opinion of those who believe it's useless to keep 10 pitchers, at least early in the season, because of the lack of work.

"I just don't have any plans on keeping 10 pitchers," Houk said. "But there's no sense in bringing in a body unless we can get someone to help us. We're looking for a right-handed outfielder, but there aren't many available. A lot... were taken in expansion. We just don't have anybody (in the minor leagues)."

The Tigers, who left spring training with nine pitchers, added reliever Steve Foucault from Texas recently when outfielder Willie Horton was traded to the Rangers.

Mickey Stanley was nursing a sore leg, but is back now to take away some of the immediate concern over the absence of an extra outfielder. He started the last two games in center field in place of Ron LeFlore, who has a jammed finger.

Houk said he is interested primarily in a good pinch hitter and is not after an outfielder who is a defensive specialist.

Jim Palmer, one of baseball's top pitchers, was the Orioles' scheduled starter Friday against Dave Roberts. A continual drizzle forced the postponement. The game will be made up Sept. 7 as part of a two-night doubleheader.

Right-hander Palmer, coplayer of the Week in the American League by throwing two shutouts last week, was simply moved back a day and was again scheduled to pitch against southpaw Roberts on Saturday.

The rainout knocked Tiger rookie Bob Sykes and Ross Grimsley of the Orioles out of scheduled starts Saturday. Instead of moving Sykes back to Sunday's doubleheader, Houk said he will use him in the bullpen and pitch Vern Ruhle and Ray Bare Sunday.

Manager Earl Weaver of the Orioles said he will use Mike Flanagan and Grimsley on Sunday, instead of Rudy May and Flanagan.

"This washes Grimsley out of a start against New York," Weaver said. "And he beat New York four times last year."

Dave Rozema, who pitched an 8-0, four-hit shutout Thursday against Boston for his first major league decision, is expected to make his home debut Tuesday against Chicago.

Parker's One-Hand HR Keys Pittsburgh Victory

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tom Seaver only uses one arm to throw the ball...so why shouldn't Dave Parker use just one hand to hit it?

The Pittsburgh slugger did just that Friday night, musing a perfect pitch from Seaver over the fence for a two-run homer in the Pirates' 4-3 victory over the New York Mets.

The Pirates, who trailed 1-0 from the first inning on, had just tied the score on an eighth-inning single by Ed Ott — who later singled home the winning run against Skip Lockwood in the ninth — when Parker stepped to the plate against Seaver, the National League's premier pitcher.

Seaver got two quick strikes on Parker, who "fell he would throw me an inside fast ball." He guessed wrong but it worked out right.

"I wanted the ball low and away and that's where I threw it," said Seaver.

"He had me fooled," Parker admitted. "I one-handed the ball, sort of pulled the bat through it with my bottom hand."

In other NL games, the Atlanta Braves scored twice in the ninth and ended the Los Angeles Dodgers' seven-game winning streak 7-6. The San Diego Padres downed the Houston Astros 4-2. The St. Louis Cardinals walloped the Philadelphia Phillies 10-1 and the Montreal Expos nipped the San Francisco Giants 3-2 in 10 innings. The Cincinnati-Chicago game was postponed by cold weather and wet grounds.

A funny thing happened to the Dodgers just three outs away from their eighth straight triumph — Jerry Royster walked, Willie Montanez singled and one out later pinch hitter Joe Nolan singled home the tying run.

A walk loaded the bases and Rod Gilbreath grounded into a force at the plate for the second out, but Craig Robinson came through with a game-winning single.

Rookie Bob Shirley hurled 8½ innings of one-hit ball but weakened after retiring 25 consecutive batters and Jerry Turner blasted a two-run homer for San Diego. Shirley, 2-1, surrendered ninth-inning homers to Cliff Johnson and Enos Cabell before Rolfe Fingers came on to get the final two outs. The only other hit off Shirley was a leadoff single by Julio Gonzalez in the first inning.

Keith Hernandez drove in five runs with a single, triple and homer while unbeaten John Denny ran his record to 4-0 with a six-hit, Hernandez homer was a towering three-run shot in the seventh.

Andre Dawson's bases-loaded infield single in the bottom of the 10th inning scored Tony Perez with the winning run. Dawson, who had just seven hits in 40 at-bats, tapped the ball toward second baseman Rob Andrews, who could not make a play off the slick artificial surface.

The Giants tied the score against reliever Will McEnaney in the top of the ninth when Darrell Evans singled with two out and veteran Willie McCovey smashed his third home run of the season.

Rookie Gives Out Roses After Win

DETROIT (AP) — "The Rose" has displayed a touch of showmanship — but he doesn't expect to repeat his gesture as the baseball season continues.

Dave "The Rose" Rozema, the Detroit Tigers' 20-year-old rookie right-handed pitcher, passed out long-stemmed American Beauty roses Friday to his teammates and members of the press.

It was a celebration of his first major league decision, an 8-0, four-hit shutout Thursday in Boston against the Red Sox.

Actually, it was Tigers scout Bob Sullivan of Rozema's hometown of Grand Rapids, Mich., who came up with the red rose idea — a promotional touch reminiscent of the late Tony Lama's habit of providing champagne after his pro golf victories.

Asked if he would pass out roses after all his victories, Rozema, who is also sometimes called "Rosie," sniffed a rose and said:

"Gosh, I don't think so. That would cost too much money."

Rozema passed out about four dozen roses, which cost about $20 a dozen.

Teammate Fernando Arroyo, a relief pitcher, told him: "Why not? That's a good idea. Just keep pitching four-hit shutouts and J.C. (Tigers General Manager Jim Campbell) will probably buy the roses for you."

The Scottish-American Campbell is noted for being tight-fisted with money. When informed later of Arroyo's comment, he said with a gruff voice — but with an Irish grin — "Tell Arroyo he's full of it."

JOHNSON DECIDES: Seated next to his mother and high school basketball coach, Earvin Johnson joked with reporters Friday in Lansing as he discussed his decision to attend Michigan State University. Johnson led Everett high school to a 73-5 record in three years and was vital in winning this year's Class A high school state championship. (AP Wirephoto)

'Magic' Sets Modest Goals

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Earvin Johnson has set himself a couple of modest goals as a Michigan State basketball star: To win the Big Ten championship and get ready for pro ball.

Johnson, one of the top prep stars in the country, gave a big boost to the Spartans' lagging basketball program Friday by announcing he will attend MSU next fall.

A two-time All-American at Lansing Everett High School, Johnson said he came close to signing with the University of Michigan. But he said he is wanted to go to MSU in nearby East Lansing since the sixth or seventh grade.

"Once you get the Spartan in you, you're always a Spartan," he said at a news conference. He grinned: "Maybe now the telephone will stop ringing."

Johnson was under fierce local pressure to attend MSU, and said, "I understand how badly the community wanted me to stay." But, he said, "I'm going for me and not the community. I went to State because I wanted to go."

But Johnson made no promises he will stay four years. Asked if he would consider an offer to turn professional, he shrugged: "If something comes up good, I might have to take it."

The 6-foot-8, 202-pound Johnson led Everett to a 73-5 record in three years, and this year's Class A state championship. He scored 32 points a game this season, also notching over seven assists and 17 rebounds a game.

Despite his size, he directed play with pinpoint passing and cat-quick ball handling. Scouts said he was one of the most versatile prep players in the country, with virtually no weaknesses.

Johnson's decision was greeted happily by MSU Coach Jud Heathcote, who arrived last year to begin a rebuilding program. "He's the type of player who can turn our program completely around," Heathcote said, predicting Johnson will be a starter even as a freshman.

"For a high school player, he's about the most complete basketball player I've ever seen," Heathcote said. "No one can do all the things he can do."

He plays like a college player now.

Johnson said he leaned toward Michigan most of the year, and the Wolverines badly wanted to add him to their Big Ten championship program. "If I'd signed earlier, I'd probably have gone to Michigan," he said.

But living next door to MSU turned him the other way. "They didn't have to recruit me as hard because they are right here," he noted. And he predicted summer days ahead for Spartan basketball fortunes.

"I'm the type of player who wants to go to a program that's down and try to lift it up," he said. "Michigan is going to be good with or without me. Michigan State will be better with me. We're going to be right up there battling for the Big Ten championship."

Johnson also will be joining a close friend, Jay Vincent, who starred at Lansing Eastern but was overshadowed by Johnson's exploits. Vincent, a 6-foot-7, 235-pound center-forward, picked MSU recently. The Spartans also have four starters returning next year.

Barber Catches Up To Resting Stadler

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — While Craig Stadler rested, Miller Barber caught up with him.

Barber fired a 66 Friday in the rain-delayed portion of the first round of the $175,000 New Orleans Open. The 66 score gave him a tie with Stadler going into today's second round.

Stadler got his 66 Thursday before lightning and rain cancelled play for the day. He didn't listen to news reports Friday as Barber made his charge. He didn't find out that he was no longer alone atop the heap until he came back to the Lakewood Country Club to practice.

Barber—three under par when rain stopped him Thursday—resumed play on the 12th hole Friday. He immediately went four under par with a well-placed three wood that left him a three-foot putt for a birdie.

He birdied the 15th with a 12-foot putt and parred the 16th.

It looked like his charge was over on the 17th, when he buried his drive in a bunker 85 feet from the pin. But he blasted out, and his ball bounced straight into the hole for a two on the par-three hole.

He two-putted from 30 feet to get a par on the 18th.

Six golfers—among them Masters champion Tom Watson—were tied at 68 going into today's round. Keith Fergus got his 68 Thursday. Bobby Cole, Don January, George Knudson and Chi Chi Rodriguez got theirs Friday.

In all, 82 of the 150 golfers entered in the tournament shot par or better for the first round.

Bradley Cards 64 For Lead

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Pat Bradley used seven birdies and an eagle to put together a tournament record 64 and a first-round lead in the $50,000 American Defender Classic.

The 26-year-old, fourth-year pro took a three-stroke lead over JoAnn Carner, who shot a 67 on the rolling 6,238-yard, par-72 North Ridge Country Club layout Friday.

Judy Rankin and Kathy Whitworth were two strokes back with rounds of 69.

The field will be cut to the low 60 golfers and ties today as the 54-hole tournament goes into its second round. Defending champion Sue Roberts is in danger of missing the cut as she fired a disappointing 81 Friday.

Former Open champion Sandra Spuzich headed a large group of golfers tied at two-under-par 70, while Sandra Palmer and three-time Raleigh winner Carol Mann each had rounds of 71.

Semi-Pro Teams To Promote Football Overseas

NEW YORK (AP) — Two semi-professional American football teams will tour Europe to play a five-game series for the fledgling Intercontinental Football League this summer.

The Iowa Nite Hawks and the Chicago Lions, both members of the Northern States Football League, leave in June for the series in Austria, Germany and France.

Organizers of the league hope the tour signals the start of increased interest in American football overseas.

"There has been a drastic and dramatic decline in soccer interest in Europe," explained Bob Kap, founder of the IFL. "It does not relate to the people anymore."

There are empty stadiums for many soccer games throughout Europe and that is the reason Kap and Carroll Catler, president of the IFL, believe that American-style football will be a hit there.

"What do they need with soccer, when they can have American football?" said Kap.

Last year, the IFL imported two college teams, Henderson State and Texas A&I for three games in Europe. Playing in West Berlin, Vienna and Paris, the two college teams averaged better than 20,000 fans per game. The contest in Austria drew 30,000, more than doubling the combined attendances of seven professional soccer games played in the country that day.

Kap, who once coached the Dallas Tornado of the North American Soccer League, thinks American football can't miss on the continent.

"I'll tell you what," he said. "I'll take American football in Europe and you can have European soccer in the United States. We'll see who has more success."

Eventually, Catler and Kap would like to see a self-sustaining European league consisting of perhaps a half dozen local teams including some American players, just as Japanese baseball teams use ex-major leaguers from the United States.

For the moment, the IFL will offer the Nite Hawks and Lions, two top minor league teams, to promote the sport.

Like so many minor league teams, the two clubs have a host of ex-college players. Their rosters are often scanned by National Football League clubs and three members of the Iowa team, defensive tackle Tyrone Dye, tight end Bill Larson and wide receiver Dave Jackson, all recently were signed as free agents by the Washington Redskins. Jackson and Dye both played at Iowa and Larson came out of Colorado State.

"What we are doing now is educating the European fans to American football," said Catler. The process can be tedious.

For example, there is no explanation or single word for the idiomatic American football huddle. The French came up with the closest synonym, describing it as "Pendant Le Conseil," which translates as "Timeout For Strategy."

"You can't argue with that," laughed Catler.

'M' Player Paces U.S.

VIENNA (AP) — The air in the United States hockey team dressing room gets a bit blue when Coach John Mariucci starts chastising his players.

"If anybody doesn't like my language he can go home," said the veteran administrator of the Minnesota North Stars after he had piloted the Americans to their first victory in the World Ice Hockey Championships Friday.

The U.S. squad downed Romania 7-2. But after the first period, with five penalties against them and trailing by one goal, the Americans appeared heading for another failure. They had lost 4-1 to Canada on opening day.

Mariucci said he took over the U.S. squad a week ago and saw immediately it was short of talent.

After Mariucci had cracked the whip the team became transformed.

Romania, newly promoted from the B pool, went to a 2-0 lead within two minutes of the start of the second period. But then the Americans roared back.

Jim McElmury, Warren Miller, David Doherty and Warren Williams scored goals to give the U.S. a 4-2 lead by the end of the second period.

Doherty, 21, from the University of Michigan, scored again in the final period and Bob Miller and Bob Krieger knocked in two more.

Today was a rest day. Two injured players—Guy Charron of Canada and Tom Rowe of the U.S.—nursed ligament injuries and hoped to get fit for later games.

Russia, Czechoslovakia and Sweden lead the standings, each with four points from two games.

In Friday's other games, the Soviet Union whipped Finland 11-6. Czechoslovakia dumped West Germany 9-3 and Sweden defeated Canada 4-2.

Carter Admits Energy Plan May Help Fuel Inflation

By MICK SHANAHAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter acknowledges that his energy plan will help HONORED: Charles L. Christensen, son of Mrs. Dorothy Christensen, 502 North Kalamazoo avenue, Paw Paw, has received a D.C. Shilling award as Western Michigan University's most promising junior class political science student. Shilling awards are presented each year to WMU students who have demonstrated achievement, and received favorable faculty evaluations.

Milliken Asks State Tax Share

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has urged President Carter to permit federal gasoline taxes to be reduced if states raise their own gas tax to fund new transportation programs.

In a telegram Friday to the President, Milliken proposed that states receive a credit for gas tax increases they levy, thus reducing the impact of a federal gas tax increase.

But he also said he would push for his tax increase, whether or not the federal government allowed such a credit.

Milliken, reacting to Carter's energy program, said he has proposed a two-cent-a-gallon gas tax increase in Michigan to help raise $144.8 million to fund new transportation programs.

Carter has asked for standby authority to raise the national gas tax by five cents a year if Americans do not curb their gasoline consumption.

Milliken asked Carter to alter his recommendations to reduce any federal tax hike by the same amount a state is willing to tax itself "for new energy conserving transportation programs."

Under Milliken's proposal, for example, if the legislature approved his tax hike and the federal one also took effect, Michigan gas prices would jump by only five cents, instead of the combined seven cents.

Milliken told Carter that "I fully support your goals." He said his own transportation program " dovetails perfectly with the aims of your program."

fuel inflation, but says the over-all impact on the economy will be beneficial.

"There is a general consensus that there will be some inflationary impact," Carter said at a news conference Friday.

The President said computer studies show inflation might be increased by "less than one-half of 1 per cent per year."

Later Friday, Carter's budget director, Bert Lance, issued a sharply revised forecast for this year's rise in consumer prices. He predicted a 6.7 per cent increase in prices this year, instead of the 5.3 per cent estimate just two months ago.

The change was blamed mostly on the winter weather. At the same time, the budget office lowered its estimate of how much the gross national product will grow this year. The official estimate is now 4.8 per cent, down from 5.4 per cent.

Some of the President's energy advisers had been insisting that the energy plan would have no negative impact on the economy.

Carter said his energy plan "will have some inflationary impact. It will definitely not have an adverse impact on jobs or economic growth." He said some optimistic studies show the energy package might generate as many as several hundred thousand new jobs, mainly in construction.

Republicans are formulating their own alternative energy proposals. House Republican Leader John J. Rhodes says Carter's package is "very inflationary" and will cost jobs and slow the economic expansion.

Carter was asked if his controversial request for a 50-cent-per-gallon standby tax on gasoline was just a "bargaining chip" that he was using to win passage of other portions of his program.

"I am deeply dedicated to the gasoline tax and will fight for it until the last vote in Congress," declared Carter, who emphasized that the tax would be rebated to consumers.

Carter estimated that a family of four would receive $100 in direct tax credits under the standby plan if the first, additional tax of five-cents-per-gallon went into effect in 1979.

Carter said the family then could make a profit on the new tax system by driving less or switching to a smaller car. The larger the tax, the greater the opportunity for each household to profit.

"The benefits are great for families that conserve," said Carter.

But he admitted that all the money collected as gasoline or crude oil taxes may not be returned to consumers.

"I can't certify today that every nickel of the taxes collected will be refunded to consumers," he said.

The President estimated that the total cost of implementing his plan "would be about $4 billion" by 1985. Carter said that with the $4 billion, "we would have purchased and placed in storage a billion barrels of oil."

The federal budget this year alone is more than 100 times that amount.

Carter's news conference marked his third appearance on national television this week to stump for the energy plan.

Asked if he feared overexposure, Carter replied: "There is a danger of overexposure of me in my presentation to the news media and to the American people. But I think this is an extraordinary week, and I doubt that it will be repeated in the future."

On other topics, the President:

—Said the sale of tanks to Zaire is a thin prospect. "It is highly unlikely I would advocate such a sale," said Carter, although he maintained no decision has been made.

—Indicated a likely veto of a bill now in the Senate if business tax credits he opposes are included when the bill reaches the White House.

—Confirmed his trip to Europe in May will include a visit to Geneva, Switzerland, for a meeting with Syrian President Hafez Assad.

State Will Reimburse Counties

LANSING — State Rep. Mark Siljander (R-Three Rivers) has said the state Department of Natural Resources will partially reimburse three counties in his district for expenditures on their marine safety programs.

The reimbursement equals two-thirds of the authorized and approved expenditures for the programs, which are conducted on a calendar year.

Siljander said Cass county will receive $22,877; St. Joseph county, $14,311; and Van Buren county, $10,000.

The DNR informed Siljander that the funds will be mailed to the county treasurers or another county official designated by the individual county at the end of the month.

Siljander's district involves a small part of Van Buren county, and most of Cass and St. Joseph counties.

Pre-School Event Set For Galien

Dr. Arthur J. Batchelder, head of the reading instructional program at Lake Michigan College, Wednesday, May 11, will address a group of parents in Galien on the subject "Reading and the Pre-school Child."

The talk is intended for parents of pre-school youngsters to help them prepare their children for the reading and comprehension instruction they will undergo in school.

Arranged by Mrs. Tania Huerfanger, director of community education for Galien schools, the talk is scheduled for 2 p.m. and will be held in the school administration building.

Lakeshore Pair Picked For 'States'

Brian Grau Elaine Zeilke

Brian Grau and Elaine Zeilke, juniors at Lakeshore high school have been selected by American Legion Post 585 and its auxiliary to attend boys and girls state this summer.

Grau, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Grau, 5356 Donald, Stevensville, will attend boys state, June 18-25, at Michigan State University, East Lansing. Miss Zeilke, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Zeilke, 4911 Lincoln avenue, St. Joseph, will attend girls state, June 11-18, at Olivet college, Olivet.

For one week, both will take an active part as citizens in the political activities of a make-believe community, campaigning and electing city, county and state officials.

Their experiences in the democratic government learning process will then be related to their fellow students next fall during their senior year at Lakeshore.

'Roots' Copied, Authors Claim

NEW YORK (AP) — A Mississippi woman has filed suit in federal court against Alex Haley, claiming that his best-selling book "Roots" contains parts "largely copied" from her 1966 novel, "Jubilee."

The copyright infringement suit was filed by Margaret Walker Alexander, director of black studies at Jackson State University.

The heroine of her novel — set in Georgia during the Civil War era — was based on a slave ancestor of Mrs. Alexander.

Meanwhile, Harold Courlander of Bethesda, Md., claimed Friday that portions of "Roots" bear a strong resemblance to his novel, "The African," published in 1967.

Mrs. Alexander's suit asked for impoundment of unsold copies of Haley's book, an accounting of its sales and treble damages of an unspecified amount.

It is estimated that since its publication in 1976, "Roots" has sold more than 1.5 million copies. Last Monday it was awarded a special Pulitzer Prize.

Mrs. Alexander's complaint, assigned Wednesday to Judge Marvin E. Frankel in U.S. District Court in Manhattan, became known Friday.

Haley and his publisher, Doubleday & Co., were listed as defendants.

Haley could not be reached for comment immediately. Courlander did not say whether he intended to take any action.

"The African," published by Crown Books, was a novel about an African boy who was picked up in the slave trade and sent to the United States.

"I have noted a number of similarities between 'Roots' and my book," he said.

"Both thematically and conceptually. Certain thoughts of Kunta Kinte, certain scenes and dialogues, certain concepts and imagery in 'Roots' do seem quite similar to various moments in 'The African.'"

Paw Paw Woman Acquitted

By DENNIS COGSWELL

Paw Paw Bureau
PAW PAW — A Paw Paw woman Friday was acquitted by a Van Buren Circuit court jury for the second time this week on a charge of larceny in a building.

The jury deliberated about one hour yesterday before finding Robin Burke, 23, also known as Robin Stanfill, innocent of a charge of taking a wallet containing about $200 from Steven Arent at his Paw Paw home on Nov. 21, 1975.

On Tuesday, a different jury found Miss Burke innocent of another charge of larceny in a building. That charge involved the alleged theft of $75 from a purse belonging to Madelyn Randall, Lawton, on Dec. 23, 1975.

Attorneys in both cases were Keith Robinson, an assistant prosecutor, and Michael Reisterer of Kalamazoo, who represented Miss Burke.

Hartford Youths Charged

PAW PAW — A Hartford youth was arraigned Friday in Seventh district court on charges stemming from a break-in early Thursday at the Hartford middle and high schools.

David M. Quigno, 17, 420 East Main, demanded preliminary examination on charges of breaking and entering an unoccupied dwelling and breaking and entering a coin operated device.

Hartford police said doors at both buildings had been smashed open and two pay telephones broken open. Damage was estimated at $375.

A 15-year-old Hartford boy has also been petitioned into juvenile court on the same charges.

Trudeau's Wife Remains Silent

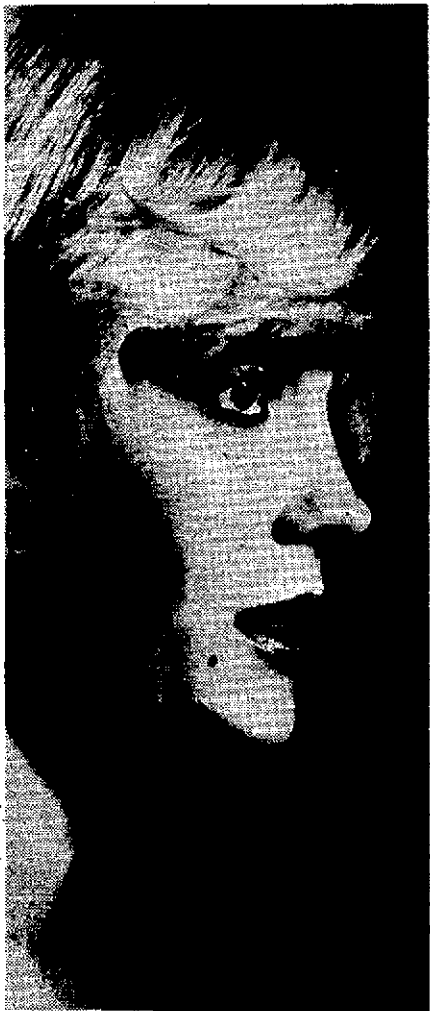

PARIS (AP) — Hiding behind a magazine and pretending not to understand French, Margaret Trudeau refused to talk to reporters who met her at a Paris airport.

The wife of Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau had spent Friday at a mineral water company near Nîmes after arriving in France Thursday night.

There has been speculation that the Trudeau marriage is in trouble. Mrs. Trudeau left Canada before her husband returned from an official trip.

Stockman Office Tour Slated

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressman Dave Stockman's mobile office will visit a variety of communities in Van Buren and Cass counties next week, his office here has announced. The freshman congressman's mobile office is staffed by qualified personnel to help district residents with any federally-related problems they might have. The mobile office schedule for next week is as follows: Monday — Decatur, 9 to 11 a.m.; Lawrence, 11:20 a.m. to 1 p.m.; Bangor, 1:15 to 3 p.m.; Hartford, 3:15 to 5 p.m. Tuesday — Edwardsburg, 10 to 11:45 a.m.; Cassopolis, 1 to 2:45 p.m.; Marcellus, 3:15 to 5 p.m. Wednesday — Lawton, 9 to 11 a.m. Thursday — South Haven, 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.; Covert, 1 to 2:30 p.m.

South Bend Man Jailed For Breaking Jail Sink

Steve A. Holley, 24, of South Bend, was sentenced to 90 days jail yesterday after he pleaded guilty in Berrien District court to malicious destruction of property under $100.

He was accused of destroying a sink in the Berrien county jail April 21 where he was being held awaiting trial in Circuit court on a charge of unlawfully driving away an auto. The jail sentence is to run concurrently while he awaits trial in Circuit court.

Demanding preliminary examinations when arraigned were:

Mahmoud Hammoud, 26, of Detroit, on a charge of embezzlement over $100 from Joseph D. Galloro at the Wayside Inn, New Buffalo township, from July 2 to Aug. 5, 1976. Hammoud was returned to jail in lieu of $10,000 bond.

Dennis M. Metcalf, 31, of Saginaw, on a charge of possession of a controlled substance — barbituric acids — with intent to deliver April 22 on I-94 in Lincoln township. He was jailed in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Sentenced were: Thomas O. Rauls, 36, of 1120 Waukonda avenue, Benton township, 10 days and $155 for driving under the influence of intoxicants in Benton township Jan. 14.

Bruce W. Jenkins, 19, of 1003 Colonial drive, Benton township, $33 for fishing in a trout stream closed to fishing until April 30 in Oronoko township. The ticket was issued by state police April 13.

Sentenced for impaired driving were Leon S. Essmyer Jr., 24, of 1200 East Empire avenue, Benton township, $155; and Ronny G. Anderson, 33, of 4735 East Empire avenue, Benton township, $155 and one year probation. J.W. Jones, 40, of Maple street, Benton Harbor, three days and $90 or 10 days for driving while his license was revoked April 20 in Benton Harbor.

Betty Leaving Hospital Today

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Former First Lady Betty Ford was expected to be released from the hospital today following two days of tests.

A Ford family spokesman said Mrs. Ford, 59, entered Eisenhower Medical Center on Thursday morning for what was described as "routine tests with no great urgency."

Spokesman Greg Willard said the tests were not related to Mrs. Ford's breast cancer operations in 1974.

WSAM Speakers Bureau Meets

HARTFORD — The speakers bureau of Women for the Survival of Agriculture in Michigan (WSAM) will meet Monday, April 25, at 8 p.m. in the Elm room of the First Savings and Loan here. Each WSAM member will be requested to present a three minute talk on what she hopes to see the group accomplish in the coming year. Mrs. Aime Cunningham, Hartford public librarian, has agreed to maintain and cross-index an agricultural reference file for WSAM. Contributions of pamphlets, clippings and other written may be taken to the library or given to any WSAM member.

CMU Trustees Boost Tuition And Room Fees

MOUNT PLEASANT, Mich. (AP) - Undergraduate tuition has been raised 9 per cent and room and board 3 per cent at Central Michigan University.

The board of trustees Wednesday decided undergraduate students will pay $24 per semester credit hour next fall, while graduate students will pay $32 per credit hour, an increase of 10.3 per cent.

Room and board will increase $42 to $1,400 a year.

The board cited rising costs as a reason for raising the students' fees.

Miners Relive
Bygone
'Hell'

By ANNE GOLD
YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — Ervin Mullin of Ypsilanti descended into "hell" every day of his working life for 13 years.

At the age of 18, he followed in the footsteps of his grandfather and two stepfathers. When Mullin himself emerged from the coal mines of West Virginia in 1960, it was a breath of fresh air for the 33-year-old man — but only in a figurative sense.

Twenty-six years later, he still coughs up phlegm laced with black, liquified coal. Two of the arteries in his heart are clogged.

"It was pure hell in my time," Mullin recalls.

But his stint in the life-choking mine shafts drew him together with Raymond Hall, who also migrated from the mines to Ypsilanti in 1959.

The two former miners sat in Mullin's home recently and reminisced about their "underground lives."

None of the memories they shared was pleasant.

"I was scared. I was just a kid," Mullin says, "but the money meant more to us then — those were pretty rough days. I was young, but I still remember them."

He remembers standing by while his grandfather died of "miner's consumption," or black lung. He remembers searching for the limbs of a miner dismembered by a runaway piece of equipment. And, most of all, he remembers his own scrapes with death in the mountain mazes.

One morning in the early 1940s, Mullin missed his bus to work at a mine in Barley, W. Va. He also missed a cave-in.

"There wasn't a person who got out of Barley No. 2," he says.

Another time, Mullin was too hung over to make it to work. The man who replaced him was killed.

Hall also had his share of near misses in the tunnels. His foot still is pinned together from a clash with a cutting machine that backfired on his leg.

"Any day you go into the coal mines you're subject to getting killed before you get out," Hall says.

In their day, Mullin and Hall say, safety inspections conducted by federal officials were done only for "show." They came and left while intolerable conditions remained.

Although many of the mines' victims lost their lives by being negligent, the two veteran miners say, they insist the job has unavoidable dangers.

As Hall says, "If the explosion doesn't get you, the damp air will" — or isolated falling rocks, or berserk machines, or flooding, or the insidious grip of black lung.

Mullin and Hall say mine operators tried to counteract the coal-permeated air with blasts of rock dust, which the workers also inhaled. Respirators were unheard of in the mines at the time.

"Then we tried chewing tobacco," to filter the coal particles, they remember.

Another remedy was to take a few slogs of mint gin to wash out the congestion, and to forget 12-hour shifts in the dark pits.

There wasn't much else to do except drink after hours in the mining towns, say Mullin and Hall, and even if there was recreation, they couldn't afford it if it cost very much.

The miners were "scrip-bound," as phrased in their own shorthand.

Employees were given pieces of scrip they could redeem only at company stores, usually at the going rate of 75 cents on a dollar. They also lived in homes owned by the mining management.

When Hall left mining in 1959, he was making $25 a day. He says miners now make upwards of $80 each day.

"Things are getting better," from a safety standpoint as well, Mullin thinks.

But he adds, "I wouldn't work in one of those places for a million dollars a day."

For those individuals reared in the coal towns, it's a different story, however, the men say. During their upbringing and even now, there was little other work available in some sections of the South, they note.

And once the men stepped into the "big city" and rode into the bowels of the mountains, it was difficult to tear themselves away from the sooty, hazardous job.

"It's hard to break away from the coal mines," says Mullin.

Two Gag Orders 'Illegal' In N.J.

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — The state Supreme Court today overturned two gag orders imposed on newspapers during criminal trials, calling the orders "clearly illegal."

"Proceedings which take place in open court are matters of public record and the news media have an absolute right to report thereon," the court said in a unanimous opinion.

Judges in two criminal trials, in order to avoid sequestration of jurors, ordered that news reporters not publish anything that happened in hearings conducted in open court with the jury absent. The orders were to remain in effect until the conclusion of the trials.

The hearings involved whether certain evidence would be admissible before the juries.

The New Brunswick Home News and the Courier News of Bridgewater appealed the order in one case; the Trenton Times appealed the other court order.

The court followed a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision in affirming that the orders were unconstitutional restraints of freedom of the press.

Justice Mark Sullivan wrote in the decision that a trial court could use other means to shield a jury from accounts of possibly prejudicial evidence, including sequestration, delay of a trial, relocation of a trial, use of a jury from another place, and from instructions to a jury to decide the issues only on the evidence presented in court.

Sullivan also said newsmen probably could be barred from attending hearings conducted outside the presence of the jury in order to avoid sequestration of a jury and at the same time "avoid any direct restraint on the news media."

However, he noted that some legal authorities have suggested there may be a constitutional requirement that trials be conducted in open court.

BUILDING PROGRAM

Niles Hospital Inks $1.9 Million Note

NILES — Officials of Pawtucket hospital, Niles, Friday signed a $1.9 million, 15-year mortgage that is part of the funds for the $5 million construction and renovation program that has been underway at the hospital for the past 2½ years.

The mortgage was arranged through a group of five local financial institutions headed by the First Federal Savings and Loan association. Murray Campbell, a Niles attorney and president of the hospital board of trustees, and Richard Warren, retired superintendent of schools and treasurer of the hospital board, signed the 9½ note. Representatives from the five banks and savings and loan associations and hospital officials also attended the ceremony.

Hospital officials said this is the first time the hospital has incurred a long-term debt of any sort. The recent building program was completed at a cost of $5,094,000. Of that

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Inflation Is Tough Hurdle For Retiree

By SAM SHULSKY
Q. I have always enjoyed your columns on retirement planning but think you should stress the problems of inflation more. I retired seven years ago at 60 and now find that inflation has cut my "reserve income" to barely 20 per cent. Bonds, preferreds and even good utility stocks do not offer any protection. I find one must "speculate" in quality growth stocks, hoping that capital gains will offset at least part of the cost of inflation.

A. I don't think we're as far apart as you imply.

I have always cautioned those retiring at the young age of 60 that inflation is going to be their big problem. I have always warned that bonds, preferreds, savings accounts offer no protection against inflation. There is no doubt about it — the person who retires at 60 must face up to a drain on purchasing power (inflation) which is a far lesser problem for a person who retires at, say, 70 or 75. It is with good reason (I feel) that my retirement letter urges that the ratio of bonds to equities in a retirement portfolio must reflect the age at which one goes into retirement and (putting it another way) reflect his or her vulnerability to inflation. So, we are very largely agreed.

I also agree that growth stocks, half-long-term, are one method a retirement planner can use in attempting to build capital over the next 10, 20, 30 years. I am a little less ready to grant that a man retiring at 60 can count on speculation in 2- or 3-per cent dividend glamour stock to finance his super-market, rent, and clothing needs for the rest of his life.

In the first place, growth stocks don't always grow. In fact, in recent years they have been one of the market's prime disappointments. If you have been forced to sell out increasing amounts of glamour shares to generate an additional $4,000 or $5,000 a year to help meet retirement living costs over the last half-dozen years I don't think you are very happy about your dwindling portfolio. I have a distinct feeling — from retirement letters I've received — that selling shares, even in a rising market, is an unpleasant exercise for many elderly folks.

(And if this selling is followed by even a cynical market downturn in the price of the remaining shares you can see where it might foster panic.)

Where I disagree with you also is that there are stocks which have managed to increase dividends over the years — among which utilities do enjoy a good representation. But I will admit that there are absolutely no 100 per cent solutions to the problem you pose: early retirement vs. constant inflation. They are natural enemies and only a few procedures (Social Security and pension cost-of-living increases) can hope to contend with the widening gap on an assured basis.

Q. I was recently widowed at 58, am employed and concerned with investing about $35,000 now in savings so as to get the best return and pay the least in taxes.

A. Money today can earn 8½-8¾ per cent from good quality bonds — taxable. Or you could turn to tax-exempt bonds for let's say, 5 to 6 per cent. Only after you've figured your tax bracket can you determine which course would be best for you.

I wish readers would concentrate more on getting the best net return rather than on harping on the fact they don't want to pay "any" taxes, or the "least" taxes.

Two Firms Are Target Of Lawsuit

PAW PAW — A Grand Junction couple has filed suit in Van Buren circuit court seeking damages for an allegedly defective mobile home they were sold in 1975.

Named as defendants in the suit brought by Nicholas and Patricia Menzies are Jericho Mobile Estates, Inc., South Haven, from whom they purchased the home; and Allied Homes, Dowagiac, the manufacturer.

The suit alleges the mobile home has some 26 defects, including walls and a roof which leak, that have made it unfit for habitation. At the time of the purchase, the suit alleges, Jericho and Allied Homes claimed it was free from defects.

The suit asks for $21,913, the purchase price, plus 12 per cent interest on the $14,270 the Menzies say they borrowed to finance it. The suit also seeks punitive damages in any amount over $10,000.

Niles Man Gets Credit League Post

Roland Church of Niles has been elected to a two-year term as a state director of the Michigan Credit Union League (MCUL) during a recent meeting of the MCUL's Southwestern chapter, the group has announced.

The chapter is made up of credit union officers representing 30 credit unions in southwestern Michigan with total assets over $60 million. Church represents the Simplicity-Berrien Graphic Arts credit union.

Elected alternate director was Wendell Brooks, Whirlpool Employees Federal credit union. Elected to the chapter's executive committee was Hazel Albrecht, Auto Specialties Employees credit union.

The dinner meeting for 121 officers and guests was held at St. Joseph Elks lodge.

Jones Man Run Over By Tractor

JONES — Lee Evans, 73, Jones, was reported in stable condition today at Bronson hospital, Kalamazoo, after he was knocked from and run over by his tractor yesterday about 4 p.m.

Cass sheriff's deputies said Evans, Bair Lake street, Newberg township, sustained broken ribs and internal injuries. Deputies said he was pulling trees with the tractor when it slid down a hill, and hit some trees in a field near his home.

Kelley Fights Gas Rate Increase

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state attorney general is intervening in the largest rate increase request ever filed by Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said the $110 million request filed with the Michigan Public Service Commission follows a year of record earnings for the utility.

"Michigan Consolidated no sooner proclaimed record earnings to its shareholders for 1976 than it went to the PSC pleading poverty and asking for a record $110 million rate increase," Kelley said.

Kelley said Michigan Consolidated's 1976 report showed earnings of $37.1 million, a rate of return of 13.86 per cent. The PSC has authorized a 12 per cent rate of return.

Revenues jumped 28 per cent and net income rose 14 per cent.

In addition, Kelley said, the firm's parent company, American Natural Resources Co., reported record growth in earnings and a rate return of 14.6 per cent.

Kelley said Michigan Consolidated had net operating revenues of $55 million in 1976, but adjusted the figure to show only $11.6 million for purposes of setting utility rates.

"Michigan Consolidated's rates to a typical residential heating customer have doubled in a little more than four years," Kelley said.

He said most of the increase has been automatic adjustments stemming from increases in the cost of gas purchased from other companies.

MiOsha On Agenda At LMC

A Michigan Department of Labor official, Clarence Green, of the safety education and training division, will lead a one-day safety seminar Wednesday, May 18, at Lake Michigan college in Benton township.

Marcellus Clinic To Be Opened

MARCELLUS — Opening ceremonies for the new $60,000 Community Medical Center here will be held Saturday, April 30.

A ribbon cutting ceremony will be held at 2 p.m., to be followed by an open house until 5 p.m. The clinic will open for business Monday, May 2.

The facility will be operated under a lease agreement with the Kalamazoo-based Westside Family Medical Center and will be open from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The local facility was financed through a sale of non-interest bearing certificates. The sale was spearheaded by the Marcellus Lions club. The club undertook the project in 1973 in order to attract doctors to the area.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Eight People Are Quizzed, Released

St. Joseph police said eight people, believed to be gypsies, were questioned and released after they were escorted from inside the Uptown pharmacy, 1021 Main street, about 4:15 p.m. Friday.

Police said the eight, including some women, were questioned at police headquarters, but released when it appeared nothing had been taken from the store. They left in at least two cars, police said.

SA 24 by 24-inch window was reported broken at the senior citizens' nutrition center, 662 Highland avenue.

LoRena McIntosh told Benton township police Friday a pistol, valued at $25, was stolen from her home, 650 South Crystal avenue.

Phone Bomb Threat Was Real Ripoff

DETROIT (AP) — What would you do if awakened by a telephone call at 3 a.m. and told a bomb in your telephone would explode in three minutes?

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. said Friday it appears four Detroiters ripped their telephones off the wall and threw them out the window.

The company said it had been asked to reconnect the four telephones over Easter weekend and "you had to assume" that's why.

Bloom'dale Road Job Approved

BLOOMINGDALE — The Bloomingdale township board approved the resurfacing of 1.83 miles of CR-390 at an estimated cost of $50,000.

Work will begin at the corner of CR-665 and proceed west, according to Supervisor George Sage.

In other action at Thursday night's meeting, the board accepted a bid of $3,985 from Robert McCaleb, Muskegon, for 25 Plectron radios to be used by the township fire department. The bid was low among six received.

Three Oaks Accepts Bid For Repairs

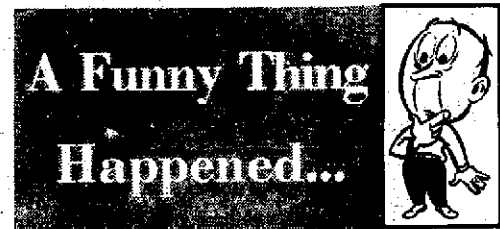

THREE OAKS — The lowest of two bids was accepted Thursday by the Three Oaks village council for painting and repairing the village water tower on Main street.

The council accepted the $2,950 bid of Indiana Industrial Tank Co., South Bend, Ind. The other bid was for $3,500 from Al Bowen Decorating service, New Buffalo. The bids were opened at the council's meeting April 7 and tabled until Thursday.

Acceptance of the bids preceded a special hearing on a proposed $610,000 village sewer rehabilitation program and possible expansion into Three Oaks township.

OVERSEAS BAGGAGE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans who fly overseas can soon forget the weight of their baggage and concentrate on stuffing the luggage they are permitted to take, thanks to the Civil Aeronautics Board. Effective June 1, the CAB announced this week, free baggage allowances on most overseas flights will be based on the number of pieces and size rather than on weight.

Voting Nay On Horse Baths

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — It's against the law to wash your clothes in Sebago Lake, because the lake supplies drinking water for Augusta. However, it's okay to wash your horse there. Some residents told the state legislature's Public Utilities Committee on Friday that they had misgivings about drinking the lake water because they'd seen visitors and summer residents bathing dogs and horses there. After determining that the law banned dirty laundry but not dirty animals, the committee drew up an amendment forbidding the washing of domestic animals within two miles of the water district's collection points.

Very Liberal Education

MENOMONIE, Wis. (AP) — Lots of college students take their bicycles to school. But at the University of Wisconsin here, they take them into the classroom. Then they take them apart. The school has a class called "Bicycle Maintenance, Repair and Transportation" in the Department of Energy and Transportation. Instructor James Collier guides his students through everything from fixing a flat to investing in a bicycle manufacturing company. Part of the course involves taking the bike apart and putting it back together. Collier says the course reflects changing attitudes about bicycles. After years of being viewed as a toy only used by children and oddballs, he says, the bicycle has now been recognized "as a serious means of transportation." "Bicycle technology is on the move," the professor says.

See John...See John Deduct

OLD SAYBROOK, Conn. (AP) — Congressman Christopher Dodd has come up with what may be the ideal person to simplify the federal tax instructions. Ann Petry writes children's books.

When Dodd visited Old Saybrook recently, Mrs. Petry brought him a copy of the Internal Revenue Service instructions and suggested that they are unintelligible. "I asked him if it wasn't possible to simplify the terms and instructions so that any literate person could fill out his own taxes," she said Friday. "Show me," said Dodd. So Mrs. Petry is rewriting the 1040 form instructions. She doesn't plan to rewrite them all however, because she wants to delegate the work. "I think they should create a five-person committee, made up of three retired, high school English teachers, one retired elementary school teacher, and Sylvia Porter, the syndicated financial columnist who can explain anything so that it's understandable," Mrs. Petry said.

All Alone And No Telephone

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP) — Nineteen-year-old Jeff Carter, just released from jail after serving a 60-day sentence for placing long-distance telephone calls to his girlfriend and billing them to local businesses, was back behind bars today. Carter was picked up again because Alliance police were puzzled by the 21 calls made to the Chicago area from a pay phone in the jail while the teenager was in their custody. To the latest accusation, Carter pleaded no contest, offered to make restitution and promised never to do it again. But Municipal Court Judge John A. Thomas declined the offer, fined Carter $100 and costs and sentenced him to 90 days in jail — "And no phone privileges."

Kindergarten Clinic Slated At Paw Paw

PAW PAW — A kindergarten registration clinic has been scheduled for May 16-18 at the United Methodist church here. According to C. William Wilson, principal of Paw Paw's Cedar Street elementary school, parents of children who will be entering kindergarten next fall should call the school to make an appointment to register their children. To enter kindergarten, a child must be age five on or before Dec. 1, 1977, Wilson said.

LOSSES: Stock market showed widespread losses Friday amid energy uncertainties and concern about interest rates. IBM led the retreat for the second straight day. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell 8.73 points to 927.07, making the week's loss 20.9 points. Volume totaled 20.70 million shares, compared to Thursday's 22.74 million. (AP Wirephoto)

Poll Indicates Public Supports Carter Program

NEW YORK (AP) — The public overwhelmingly approves of almost all major points of President Carter's energy program and his job performance rating has increased since he aired it, an ABC News-Harris poll concluded. Meanwhile, the Philadelphia research firm of Sindinger & Co. said Friday that Carter's energy program has shattered financial confidence in at least 12 million American households and caught the public so off guard that it hasn't even taken the time to do what is usually done first — blame somebody.

"Nobody's being blamed for it, that's what's lacking," said Albert Sindinger, president of Sindinger & Co., which numbers government agencies, executive and major corporations among its clients.

And an independent nationwide poll taken for Citicorp — the world's second largest and New York's largest bank — after Carter unveiled his plan to Congress on Wednesday night found that Americans would sharply curtail their driving if gasoline prices began to skyrocket. According to the poll, Americans also will rush to take advantage of government tax credits to insulate their homes.

The poll for Citicorp was taken from a scientific sampling of 647 adults ranging from blue collar workers to professionals and from 18 to 55 years of age and over.

The ABC News-Harris poll results released Friday, came from a cross-section of 1,501 adults interviewed by telephone after Carter's address to Congress.

The poll found the public disapproved by 54 to 39 per cent of Carter's proposal for a standby tax rate of 5 cents on a gallon of gasoline. They also disapproved 45 to 35 per cent of his recommendation that crude oil produced in the United States be permitted to rise to 1977 world prices.

However, those proposals were considered exceptions by the pollsters, who said Carter's major recommendations were received by margins ranging from 2-1 to 8-1.

The ABC News-Harris poll found that contrary to the President's expectations, his overall job rating climbed to a public margin of 69 per cent positive and 27 per cent negative compared to the 66-28 per cent positive margin he had before he presented his energy proposals were announced.

"There's no evidence yet to indicate that it's hurting Carter's popularity," said Sindinger. "What's happening now is that people are confused, and they're trying to perceive this in terms of how it's going to affect them."

Carter's proposals touched off the largest one-week decline in household financial confidence since Sindinger & Co. began its daily surveys 22 years ago.

The firm measures confidence in terms of a household's financial liquidity, a figure computed from current and expected household income.

For the seven days which ended Thursday, the report said, confidence dropped 8.7 percentage points, outstripping the previous high of 7.3 for the week which ended Dec. 5, 1973, at the time of the Arab oil embargo.

Only 44 out of 100 American households had a positive money supply for the seven-day period ending Thursday, the report said. The week before, the report said, the total was 54 of 100.

The 44 percentile translates to 12.2 million households, the report said, basing its findings on daily telephone surveys conducted in the 48 contiguous states.

"Confidence has been sliding all week," Sindinger said. "It started going down after the $50 rebate was dropped. Shortly after, leaks on the contents of the energy program started circulating, and this further depressed confidence."

According to the ABC-Harris poll, the number of Americans who now believe the energy shortage is serious has increased from 81 to 86 per cent, and the number rating it very serious has risen from 41 to 50 per cent, the poll found.

The greatest support, 85 to 11 per cent, was registered for the proposed tax credit of up to $410 dollars to those who insulate their homes. Next in popularity — 82 to 5 per cent — was for the proposal to increase strip mining of coal while continuing to protect the environment.

Along the same line, an 81 to 10 per cent favor making certain that industrial uses of coal are pollution free.

ORDINANCE AMENDMENT
AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND SECTION 1.183 (1) OF CHAPTER 6 OF TITLE I OF THE CODE OF THE CITY OF BENTON HARBOR BY THE ADDITION THERETO OF CERTAIN WORDS AND BY DELETING AND ADDING A NEW SECTION TO CHAPTER 6 OF TITLE I OF SAID CODE.
THE CITY OF BENTON HARBOR ORDAINS:
1. That section 1.183 (1) of Chapter 6 of Title I of the Code of the City of Benton Harbor shall be amended by the addition therein of the following words:
"City residents shall be given preference for all City employment as a matter of policy" and that the section designed as section 1.183 (1) of Chapter 6 of Title I of the Code of the City of Benton Harbor shall read as follows:
1.183 (1) Any employee of the classified service and/or appointive office employed on or after June 1, 1973 shall be a resident of the City of Benton Harbor. Residence shall be construed to mean the actual domicile of the employee where he normally eats and sleeps and maintains his normal personal and household effects. The City Manager, for employees under his supervision, may waive this residence requirement for employment for any period of time, not longer than six (6) months upon a determination that such waiver would be in the best interest of the City. Waiver of residence requirement for any period of time in excess of six (6) months must be approved by the City Commission upon a determination that such waiver would be in the best interest of the City. City residents shall be given preference for all City employment as a matter of policy.
2. That the section designated as Section 1.183 (2) of Chapter 6 of Title I of the Code of the City of Benton Harbor be deleted, effective June 30, 1977.
3. That a new section designated as Section 1.183 (3) of Chapter 6 of Title I of the Code of the City of Benton Harbor be added as follows:
1.183 (3) All employees of the classified service and/or appointive office promoted to department head status after the effective date of this ordinance shall be or shall within six (6) months become bona fide residents of the City of Benton Harbor and shall remain so during the term of their employment; and all persons currently employed by the City and residing therein shall remain bona fide residents during the term of their employment.
Passed and adopted the 18th day of April, 1977 to take effect upon publication.

PLAZA

Sponsored by the Fairplain Plaza
Merchants Assoc.

Come in for a test ride, and get a free game.

When you buy a riding mower, you want Mowbility®. That's what you get with the DIXON® ZTR® family of fine mowers—the new 30" size that you can ride through gates and between close plantings, or the wide 42" cut models.

All DIXON Mowers feature Zero Turning Radius - the tight turn that cuts your mowing time as much as half. Also superior positive mower mounts for level cutting that leaves your lawn carpet-smooth.

But don't take our word for it. Come in and ride it yourself. We'll give you a free Sure Thing Game your whole family can play, just for taking a test ride!

ASK THEM YOURSELF

Send the question, on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR CINDY WILLIAMS, star of Laverne and Shirley
How about those rumors that you and Penny Marshall don't get along offstage? — Chris Lantz, Little Silver, N.J.

● Not true. We're the best of friends. Seems that from the days of Adam and Eve, every time a new team is formed a story starts up that they're feuding. While that might apply to some, it doesn't to us. To be honest, we don't spend all our off-stage hours together because we both have our own lives to lead, but we do go as far as putting in extra time for the show — such as doing publicity for the studio on our days off.

FOR NEIL DIAMOND, composer-singer
Who inspired your new album, Beautiful Noise? — Karen L. Keown, Swazee, Ind.

● Not "who," but "what." And the "what" was the seven years I spent in Tin Pan Alley, unsuccessfully trying to become a songwriter. By the way, those were the years (the early-to-mid-60s) that saw the revolution in pop music and the rise of the composer-performer.

FOR JACK CARTER, comedian
Do you enjoy listening to other comedians? — T.J., Miami, Fla.

● Yes, because I love all kinds of humor — corn, dry stuff... even just someone who tries. I love to laugh. But the one thing I have against today's crop of comics is that they all have the same routine — they go for fifth. They do four minutes of something, then end it with a four-letter word. David Brenner is my pet hate. I hate anyone who laughs at himself.

FOR NATALIE COLE, singer and daughter of Nat "King" Cole
Why did you decide to follow in your father's footsteps? — E.R., Great Falls, Mont.

● It happened by accident. I was a psychology major at the University of Massachusetts and, for fun, joined with some musician friends working their way through college by playing at local clubs. I had never given singing a serious thought until those jam sessions. What I really wanted to do was to open a child-rehabilitation center in Los Angeles. I still might — when I've saved enough money from singing.

FOR ANNE MEARA, actress
I read you fixed up your apartment all by yourself. What part of decorating gave you the most trouble? — J.M., Green Bay, Wis.

● Hanging stacks of pictures. I didn't know where to put them or what kind of an arrangement to make. For a week I was stretching and bending, experimenting with models, cut to scale. Then I got so disgusted, I just stuck the whole lot on the wall — anywhere. Would you believe the effect of this "instant" design is terrific? Looks like the work of a professional, not the result of a fed-up amateur.

FOR BEN CRENSHAW, pro golfer Ever have an embarrassing moment on the course? — D.M., Washington, D.C.

● Yes, at the Masters Tournament, 1976, when I had to take off one shoe and one sock and try a shot on the 15th hole out of the water, with my right pants leg rolled up — looking like a halfway Tom Sawyer. But it was the only way to make the shot. I felt sort of silly, dressing and undressing in front of a large crowd at Augusta and millions more on TV.

FOR MR. BLACKWELL, fashion designer
Explain the point of your annual "Worst Dressed" list and your insulting, insensitive remarks about the women on them. — Joann Kujawa, Winona, Minn.

● The point, in my opinion, is to illustrate wrong from right. Furthermore, I don't consider my remarks insensitive. And if these ladies are insulted by being reviewed, they should keep out of the public eye.

FOR KANDY STROUD, author of Hon Jimmy Won
I'd like to know your first impression of the President. — L.P., Troy, N.Y.

● When I arrived at the million-dollar, red-brick Governor's mansion in Atlanta and met Jimmy Carter for the first time, I expected him to be the epitome of Southern sophistication. Instead, I found him in farming clothes. When I left, I came away with an indelible impression of Carter as a politician completely different from all the rest. He's down-to-earth and sophisticated; accessible, though guarded; friendly, yet reserved; casual, but disciplined. But, above all, he's human.

FOR THE "ASK THEM YOURSELF" EDITOR
I've heard talk that Lord Snowdon invented a powered mobile wheelchair. Is this so? — Helen Barstels, San Francisco, Calif.

● Yes. Before he married Princess Margaret, Anthony Armstrong Jones (right) was a commercial photographer, and he still is. But he has other interests (commercial and philanthropic), one of which is the mobile chair, which can be driven by a person with the use of only one arm (finger mobility is not necessary). It can go forward, backward and pivot around its own length. Right now, it's available only in Britain.

FOR SEN. THOMAS EAGLETON (D.-Mo.)
What do you have against pension benefits to workers offered by cities and states? — Mrs. L. M., Hobart, Ind.

● I'm not as concerned about the benefits as about how we pay for them. Private pension systems are backed by employee and employer contributions to trust funds; many public pension systems are "unfunded." Governments have made generous promises to employees but have not put aside money to back up the promises. Pension obligations are growing at a fantastic rate. Unless we change our pension-financing system, governments may not have enough money for anything but pensions.

PRO AND CON Should Lawyers Have The Right To Advertise?

PRO Joel M. Gorch, Acting Legal Director, American Civil Liberties Union

Yes. The ACLU believes that, under our First Amendment's provision for freedom of speech, lawyers should be permitted to advertise their services, and prohibitions on such advertising cannot pass constitutional muster. Such commercial speech is protected by the First Amendment because of its importance to individual economic decision-making. By advertising fees, attorneys provide the type of economic information most useful for consumer decision-making. Millions of Americans do not know how to find a lawyer and are afraid they cannot afford one. Such information will facilitate the constitutional right to obtain legal services.

CON Justin A. Stanley, President, American Bar Association

No. I believe the public is entitled to have more information about lawyers than it has traditionally received, but I do not think that lawyers have an unrestricted, constitutionally protected, right to advertise commercially or that it is in the public interest to have such advertising. We can best learn what information is useful through state-by-state experimentation. Generally, the supreme courts of our states admit lawyers to practice and control their conduct. Accordingly, what lawyers can say to the public, as well as the time, place and manner in which they can present information, should also be subject to the courts' control.

A FREE PRESS IS UP TO YOU

Think about it: If our news were controlled, and if the press could publish only approved material, how long would we last as the world's oldest democracy?

By Joe D. Smith Jr.

Author's Note: It is unusual for a newspaper publisher to have the opportunity to address millions of readers of many newspapers via FAMILY WEEKLY. The ideas expressed here are my own. No one can or should presume to speak for all newspapers in a free society.

Some believe that the press of the United States is too free: that reporters are contemptuous of people, institutions and traditions in their quest for news; that the communication media are reckless with the truth as they make the news instead of just reporting it.

Recently the heaviest criticism has been directed at the "national press" — another name for the big-city newspapers. Lumped with them are television news-men or commentators and news magazines whose content or style may be abrasive to some. But I detect some animosity to all journalists — including the small-city newspaper with which I work.

Elected officials at all levels of government are most vocal critics — the press is a favorite whipping boy. But elected officials are not alone. Leaders in business, labor, education, medicine and law also have strongly criticized the press's alleged mistakes. So commonplace have the charges become that many people believe them — regardless of their merit.

The time has come for straight talk and frank discussion to insure that Americans do not lose a precious heritage — freedom of the press. Without public understanding and support, that freedom cannot long endure; and without it there is serious doubt that our free society could long endure.

The First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States provides that, "Congress shall make no law...abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press...." That is the beginning of our Bill of Rights, which was adopted as a result of criticism voiced during the drafting and ratification of the Constitution.

First Amendment rights are essential to preservation of a society of individuals. If people are to govern themselves, they must freely know who and what they have to choose between. They must be able to talk, write and debate about candidates and issues.

We must remember that our Constitution is a restriction on government power and a brake on impetuous action. In the absence of a Constitution various temporary majorities in a democracy can speedily do anything they wish. It's you and I as individuals, and sometimes as holders of a minority view, who need constitutional safeguards against being victimized by a majority or a government that disagrees with us.

The Constitution carefully provides time for thoughtful deliberation and for the full discussion so essential in a democracy; and during that time, freedom of speech and of the press are vital to an understanding by all our people of the issues and consequences of various possible decisions.

But the Constitution can be changed. It can be reinterpreted by the courts, amended by the Congress and the states, and even made ineffective by Executive Order and action. In the final analysis, the Con-stitution's safeguards can only be sustained by public support and understanding.

Freedom of speech is easily understood and appreciated. Nearly all of us can and do exercise it.

Freedom of the press is different. Not everyone has a press. Owners, editors and writers for publications — including newspapers — have presses and systems for disseminating the account of their ideas and opinions. Press freedom for the reader is the right — even responsibility — to read critically, to consider objec-tively and to accept or reject what may be offered. Freedom to reject press views may be exercised by a letter to the editor or a subscription cancellation. But the reader's real press freedom is the confidence that what he reads is not dictated or censored by the government or any powerful special interest.

Even press freedom is not absolute, however. In addition to the economic consequences of reader rejection and subscription cancellation, a publisher is restrained in other ways. The Constitution and the law guarantee other rights to individuals. A publisher is accountable for the content of his publication. Lies and characterizations which deliberately injure innocent parties, are grounds for libel and damage charges. Among the other individual freedoms which must be respected in the free press are the desire for privacy and the right to a fair and open trial. The resolution of such concomitant freedoms is sometimes difficult and often results in lengthy litigation.

Does our system work? It has for two hundred years. But recently there have been developments which indicate discontent with and sharper criticism of the press and its electronic associates, television and radio news. There are sharp differences between the two, of course, but we will consider them together in this discussion.

What are some of the developments that bring us to our present situation?

The increased number of information outlets — newspapers, radio and television stations, magazines, books and access to them through new technology and affluence — inundate people daily in a tidal wave of news developments from all over the world. Too often we lack any real opportunity for understanding complex events; we become frustrated with our inability to cope with so many developments, so we get mad at the bearer of the bad news.

New York and Washington are power bases of business, labor, government, finance and other prime forces affecting our lives. Newspapers based in those cities carry a heavy responsibility as they try to report and explain what is happening there to all of us. But this is a diverse country encompassing major differences of perspective and opinion. Citizens of a small, homogeneous town like mine do not all see things exactly the same as residents of New York and Washington. Is it any wonder that as individuals we assess national events from different viewpoints?

None likes to have a judgment proven wrong. While we usually know who is at fault, it is tempting to blame wrongs on the source of the disappointing news.

I've heard such questions as: "What are the media trying to do to our President? Or our country? Why do they slant the news?"

A LAND OF NEWSPAPERS

America is full of newspapers. One authority lists 11,089 newspapers of all kinds in the country. Another source lists 1,762 daily papers, with a circulation of 60,977,011, and 650 Sunday papers with a circulation of 51,565,334. Besides daily papers, the weekly, biweekly, triweekly, semiweekly and four-times-a-week papers, according to various sources, number from 7,579 to 9,186, with top circulation estimated at 38,006,868. The black press, counted separately by the publishing-trade authorities, boasts 200 weekly newspapers, with a circulation of about 4,000,000. Add to this the nation's foreign-language and ethnic newspapers, plus approximately 5,000 free papers and trade and special-interest papers. The scene is one of enormous diversity.

Why do they persecute one fellow and cover up similar conduct by another?" When my friends talk about such matters, they almost always mention some other newspaper. But I know they really include ours.

So I want to speak on behalf of newspapers, and newspaper people. I believe sincerely they deserve your support. I know they need it — not just for their sake but for the country's sake. And for the sake of our First Amendment freedoms.

Newspaper people are the most dedicated people I know in their support of our free government-tal system. It is that dedication which drives them in the honest pursuit of truth. Contrary to common portrayals, they are seldom real cynics. Though they deal daily with greed, corruption, misconduct and crime, they know that ours is the best form of government yet devised. And they want us to keep it.

The need to be truthful and to be able to prove it prevents a newspaper from publishing everything it hears, or everything you may have heard. The difficulty of spotlighting the conduct of wrongdoers while protecting the innocent causes agonizing decisions that we often would just as soon not have to make.

News people know they have a responsibility to carefully exercise the power of publication. People can be injured; the public can be misled; injustice can be done. Mistakes are made, for we are human. But no one can regret such a mistake more and be so quick to correct it.

It is commonplace in this business to offend and alienate your best friends in honest adherence to a news policy that treats everyone alike.

Let me simply tell you that nearly all newspaper people are talented, hard-working, sincere, sympathetic, and compassionate. Their newspapers are operated to make a profit, and most of those profits are reinvested in better staffs and facilities. Please remember that only financially sound newspapers can remain free and independent. At the same time, those I know do not hesitate to incur the wrath of the largest advertisers or of anyone else when professional principles of journalism and liberty are at stake.

We newspapermen and women believe in this country, its people and our common future. We are committed to excellence in honest journalism. We appreciate and are humbled by the privilege and power of a Free Press. We are convinced that press freedom is essential for the perpetuation of our democratic government and our free society.

It's your First Amendment, too. AP
Please help preserve it.

Mr. Smith, whose picture is on our cover, is publisher of the Alexandria (La.) Daily Town Talk and chairman and president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, now holding its annual convention in San Francisco. The ANPA is one of the world's outstanding exponents of the cause of free press and free expression. Its member newspapers represent more than 90 percent of the daily and Sunday U.S. newspaper circulation. Mr. Smith also has been chairman of the ANPA Foundation, which is devoted to promoting high standards in journalism education, as well as president of the Southern Newspaper Publishers Association. Mr. Smith is the only lay member of the Judicial Council of Louisiana, and is a member of the state's Board of Regents for Higher Education.

'Enriched Flavor' Tobacco Gives Merit Significant Taste Edge.

Extensive taste tests show MERIT outflavors conventional low tar cigarettes.

Full tobacco flavor in a low tar cigarette.
That's the remarkable MERIT breakthrough.

A breakthrough made possible by over twelve years of intensive research into the components of cigarette smoke that contribute most to flavor.

The result: 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco.

MERIT and MERIT 100's are packed with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco. Tobacco fortified with extra flavor. Tobacco that for the first time delivers flavor you just wouldn't expect in a low tar cigarette.

Tests among thousands of smokers like yourself proved it.

A tip of the hat to Charles Slayman, a senior attorney in the Federal Trade Commission's Bureau of Consumer Protection. As part of his agency's quiet and heroic war against government verbiage, he devotes his days to recommending elimination of inactive and repetitious guidelines from two volumes of the Code of Federal Regulations.

Of the 152 rules on the books, the FTC, with Slayman's help, has weeded out more than 80 so far. Eliminated were guidelines for the manufacturing and distributing of such wares as corsets, steel bobby pins, and milk-bottle caps. The size of the rule books is being reduced by hundreds of pages, saving the taxpayer money. How much? "It's got to be a lot," says Slayman. "When you look around the government, those books are all over the place."

Here's help if you're planning to buy a 1977-model car or truck. The Federal Energy Administration's 1977 Gas Mileage Guide lists the estimated miles per gallon, average annual fuel cost, and other key data on 594 new models. There's a separate pamphlet for California covering 408 models, because that state has the most stringent auto exhaust standards in the nation. For your free copy of either pamphlet, write to Fuel Economy, Pueblo, Colorado 81009, or pick one up at your auto showroom.

"As a hobby, he designs tax forms."

The wealth of the nation. The Conference Board, an independent business research organization, has determined the national wealth of the U.S.—everyone's cash, gold, land, goods, structures, and equipment—totals an estimated $5.7 trillion. That's an average $26,511 for every man, woman, and child in the U.S. Even allowing for inflation, it's 17 times the typical American's wealth when the U.S. became a nation. The upshot is that America, for all its economic problems, is at least making progress through a rising standard of living.

A quote we like. "Freedom rings where opinions clash."

THE CELEBRITY POLL RESULTS FOR 1977

The response to our Celebrity Poll was overwhelming. (For photos of winners see cover.) Now the votes have been tallied, and here are the winners.

Movie Stars

For the third time, Robert Redford has won. Clint Eastwood was a close second and Sylvester Stallone, the new male star of Rocky, came in third. As a three-time winner, Redford joins the mighty Duke Wayne on our honorary "retirement" list of movie royalty.

If Bob did well, Barbra did better. Streisand was an almost two-to-one winner over second-place finisher Faye Dunaway. Lucille Ball was your third choice. Like Wayne, Barbra is a three-time winner and goes into the FAMILY WEEKLY Celebrity Hall of Fame.

Television

Last year's TV winner, Paul Michael Glaser, had no great competition this year as he stayed well ahead of both his Starsky and Hutch partner, David Soul, and of Happy Days' Henry Winkler. Farrah Fawcett-Majors (Charlie's Angels) won over Lindsay Wagner (The Bionic Woman) and Kate Jackson (Charlie's Angels).

The race for television's top supporting actor and actress was a nip-and-tuck battle. The final results showed Richard Hatch (Streets of San Francisco) to be the male winner, with Harvey Korman (The Carol Burnett Show) and Anson Williams (Happy Days) coming in second and third. In the female division, Family's Kristy McNichol edged out All in the Family's Sally Struthers, who in turn finished just ahead of Vicki Lawrence (The Carol Burnett Show).

After six years of polling your celebrity preferences, let's look back at the past winners and see just how durable the popularity of our television and movie stars has been.

1972 Our first Celebrity Poll turned up two TV celebrities who have done much to change the face of the medium: Mary Tyler Moore as the new-type career girl and Carroll O'Connor, as the inimitable Archie Bunker. The movie winners were John Wayne and Doris Day.

1973 Columbo's Peter Falk swept in on a tidal wave of votes, and Susan St. James barely edged out Cher Bono. The movie winners were Wayne, again, with Julie Andrews finishing just ahead of Doris Day.

1974 Jeanette Nolan of Dirty Sally and Alan Alda, the wildly funny surgeon in *M*A*S*H*, were victors. Duke Wayne ambled in for the third time, and Barbra Streisand sang her way to her first win.

1975 Alda for the second time in the TV lead, and Streisand, again, for the movie mantle. Valerie Harper was your selection as top TV actress. Now came Robert Redford to challenge, win and hold the turf.

SMART COOKING / By Marilyn Hansen

FOR A SPEEDY DINNER, TRY STIR-FRYING

STIR-FRIED CABBAGE

- 5 cups (about 1 lb.) shredded cabbage; Chinese cabbage, green cabbage, red cabbage or Savoy cabbage
3 tablespoons peanut oil
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
Dash ground black pepper
1 tablespoon white vinegar
1. Prepare shredded cabbage first; set aside on platter.
 2. Preheat wok or skillet about 3 minutes; add peanut oil. Turn heat to moderate. Stir-fry cabbage for 3 minutes.
 3. Add sugar, salt, pepper and vinegar. Cook, stirring constantly, until cabbage is tender, but crisp, about 3 minutes.

Makes 4 servings

BEEF WITH BROCCOLI

- 2 plgs. (10 oz. size) frozen broccoli spears, partially thawed, or 1 bunch fresh broccoli
1 lb. flank steak, partially frozen, thinly sliced across grain
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 clove garlic, crushed
5 tablespoons peanut oil
1 can (8 oz.) sliced bamboo shoots, drained
1/2 cup sliced fresh mushrooms
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
Hot cooked white rice
1. Cut broccoli flowerets and stems into 1 1/2-inch lengths, about 1/2-inch wide; set aside. If using fresh broccoli, break flowerets with stems from large stems. Peel skin from large and small stems.
 2. Cut steak slices into 2- x 1-inch pieces. In a small bowl combine 1 teaspoon cornstarch, 1/4 teaspoon sugar, ginger, soy sauce, 1 1/2 teaspoons water and garlic; blend well. Stir in beef and set aside.

3. Preheat wok or a large, heavy skillet about 3 minutes; pour in 2 tablespoons oil. Add beef; stir-fry 1 minute, until meat loses its red color. Return beef to bowl.
4. Heat remaining 3 tablespoons oil in wok or skillet. Stir in broccoli, bamboo shoots and mushrooms; stir-fry 2 minutes.
5. Add salt, remaining 1/4 teaspoon sugar and 2 tablespoons water; mix well. Cook 1 minute, stirring occasionally. Add meat; cook and stir 1 minute.
6. Blend together remaining 1 teaspoon cornstarch and 1 tablespoon water. Add to wok or skillet. Cook, stirring until slightly thickened. Serve with rice.

Makes 4 servings

SHRIMP WITH PEAS AND MUSHROOMS

- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
1/4 cup chicken broth
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1 clove garlic, crushed
1/4 cup peanut oil
1/2 lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced
1 plg. (10 oz.) frozen peas, thawed
1/2 cup sliced green onions
1 bag (1 lb. 4 oz.) frozen cleaned shrimp, thawed, or 1 lb. fresh medium shrimp, peeled Hot cooked rice
1. Combine cornstarch, salt, sugar, ginger. Blend in chicken broth, soy sauce, garlic.
 2. Preheat wok or skillet about 3 minutes; add oil and continue heating over a high flame. Add mushrooms. Stir-fry 1 minute.
 3. Add peas and onions. Stir-fry 2 minutes. Add shrimp. Cook and stir until shrimp are pink and firm, about 3 minutes.
 4. Stir chicken-broth mixture to blend. Add to shrimp mixture; cook and stir until sauce is thickened and clear. Serve with rice.

Final Net vs. Aerosols: a head-on comparison

In the first place, (1) Final Net is not an aerosol. There's no wasteful propellant mixed in. Final Net gives you concentrated power, for a really great long-lasting hold. (2) Final Net holds your hair in any weather without leaving it tacky. (3) Final Net spritzes exactly where you want it--no need to spray and spray in hopes of hitting the right place. (4) If aerosol hairsprays bother you here, Final Net won't. You'll find (5) in your pocketbook, because 8 ounces of Final Net go as far as 24 ounces of aerosol hairspray. (With aerosols, you're paying for a lot of propellant.) Final Net over aerosols. Really, there's no comparison.

CLOSE-UP ON BEAUTIFUL HAIR

The way your hair looks can make a big difference in the way you feel. Here are some great new easy-care hair styles for spring that can make you look and feel terrific all year-round.

Before

Debbie Has Added Subtle Interest To Her Hair With Gentle Highlighting.

She really wasn't happy with her natural hair color. It didn't need an all-over change, but she knew it needed some new life. So she chose finger painting, lightening selected strands of hair to add a little play of auburn light and interest to her plain brown hair. It was easy, and the results were just what she had hoped for — warm reddish highlights to add the subtle interest she wanted. She loves the look, and she knew she would because finger painting was made especially for adding warm golden highlights to brunet hair. And she only has to finger paint two or three times a year because the highlights grow out gracefully.

Debbie's hair was trimmed and shaped to give it more control. She shampoos two or three times a week, using a deep-penetrating conditioner once a week to give her limp hair body and shine.

To play up her big eyes, she uses several coats of mascara with gray eye shadow smudged over the lids for emphasis. A cinnamon-colored lip gloss complements the new auburn tone of her hair.

After

Take a good look at your hair. Could it be shinier, prettier, more manageable? Does it need a perkier style? How about a new haircut to give you a lift? Maybe it needs a little color to make your own color richer or cover that beginning gray. Or would you really like a whole new look? It's easy to make any change you want by just following the 4 C's — Condition, Cut, Color and Control — to beautiful hair.

C IS FOR CONDITION

Beautiful hair has to be in beautiful condition. Take a look at yours. Is it a bit dull? Hard to manage? Are you noticing more split ends? If so, it's time to give yourself a deep-penetrating conditioning treatment. Be sure to make it part of your regular beauty routine at least twice a month — more often if your hair needs extra help. For noticeable improvement, leave the deep-penetrating conditioner in your hair for about 30 minutes after shampooing. Your hair will look healthier and have lots more bounce and shine. It's just about the nicest thing you can do for hair.

C IS FOR CUT

A professional salon haircut is the basis for any great-looking hair style. Your hair should work for you — frame your face to enhance your features and be shaped to go with the natural tendencies of your hair. With the right cut, natural waves and cowlicks can actually turn into assets. And that makes taking care of your hair so much easier. Even if you want to let your hair grow forever, make regular visits to your hairdresser for a trim to keep your style in shape and to prevent split ends.

C IS FOR COLOR

How about a few highlights to brighten your hair? Color changes can be very subtle. If your hair is light brown or lighter, consider painting in subtle sunny highlights. If your hair is medium-brown or darker, you might like the look of warm, reddish highlights to give your hair a little more interest. If you'd like something a touch more dramatic, try frosting. It won't change the overall color of your hair; just give it the beautiful blond accents you've always wanted. If you'd like to do something more, like going from dark hair to light, you can do that, too. You can do whatever you like. And the change can make you look and feel terrific.

C IS FOR CONTROL

And, finally, C is for control. Once your hair is well cut, beautifully colored and in super condition, a quick spritz with nonaerosol hair mist will add the control you need to keep your hair softly and naturally in place all day long.

Even a little change can give you a tremendous lift. Take a look at the changes these five women made. Maybe you'll get some good ideas for your hair. Continued Going gray just isn't me. But using peroxide isn't either. Help!

Recently, while shopping with a friend, I caught a glimpse of "me" in a mirror. EEEK! I realized those few straggly strands of gray were making me look a little bedraggled. And a lot older than I am!

Oh No! "None of my friends are gray! Why me?"

I'm too young to be gray. But what's the solution? How can I use a hair coloring? I'm a scaredy-cat when it comes to putting some other color on my chestnut brown hair. And the whole idea of peroxide makes me nervous.

That was the day my friend told me she used Clairol's Loving Care® Color-Lotion. And I couldn't believe it. Not only was her hair absolutely beautiful and natural looking, she told me Loving Care has no peroxide. It actually covers gray without changing your natural hair color.

In seconds, we picked out my shade from the 15 available. I went straight home. Followed the easy directions. And when I washed in my Loving Care, I couldn't believe my hair.

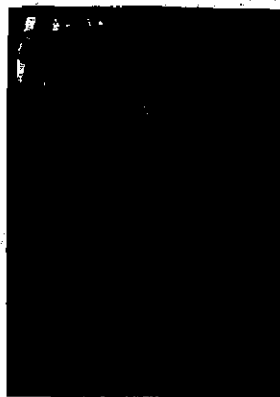

I've got my own natural color. All over. Not one ugly hint of gray.

What's more, my hair's in terrific shape. More body. Softer and shinier. Loving Care is actually good for my hair.

I love it. And now when I catch a glimpse of myself in a mirror, I like that person who's looking back at me.

It's good for your hair.

Ronnie Wanted To Add Sunny Blond Excitement To "Mousey" Hair.

Her hair was dull, a little "mousey" and neither blond nor brown. She wanted to give it some excitement — a little extra dimension with blond contrasts. So she chose frosting. The result: a soft, pretty look with hair that radiates the healthy look of sunshine. Ronnie loves the look and likes frosting because it grows out gracefully. She only has to refrost three or four times a year.

Her hair was trimmed to give it more body and bounce. To keep her fine hair looking full and healthy, Ronnie washes it every other day with an herbal shampoo made for delicate hair. She also spritzes her hair with a nonaerosol hair mist after styling to keep her naturally dry, flyaway hair under control. Ronnie has naturally pretty skin and features so she wears little make-up. But to give her lips a shiny look she dabs on lip gloss and applies a light coating of mascara on her eyes.

Kippy Got A New And Richer Color For Long Straight Hair.

Her pretty brown hair turned dull as beginning gray crept in. She didn't want to change the color, just make it prettier. So she chose a foam-in, nonperoxide hair coloring close to her own natural color to blend in the grays and to make her color richer and shinier. It was easy to apply and quick — about 15 minutes. And if she wants, she can change shades because the color will wash out in five or six weeks.

Kippy didn't want to cut her hair, but a good trim was needed to give it more shape and to get rid of the splits and ragged ends. To give more fullness to the baby-fine hair, she curled ends with a steam styling wand. She also parted her hair in the center and pulled it back with combs.

To keep her fine hair shiny and manageable, and to keep split ends under control, she washes it every four days and once a week uses a deep-penetrating conditioner and creme rinse after shampooing to keep tangles under control.

MORE IDEAS FOR BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Dolores Found How To Brighten Gray Hair.

She has a pretty, young-looking face, yet beginning gray hair made her look older than her age. It was the first time she had ever tried hair coloring, so she decided to try a nonperoxide, semi-permanent hair coloring. It was easy. She just shampooed it in. She selected a shade slightly lighter than her natural hair color in order to highlight the gray and make it work to her advantage. Now, where the gray used to be, Dolores has soft flattering highlights that light up her whole face.

A shorter cut, shaped to go along with the natural wave in her hair, makes her hair easier to control. And the new hair color adds body. She always had set her hair in rollers, but she wasn't happy with the results. Now she can blow her hair dry and finish the style with an all-over spritz of a nonaerosol hair mist for the look she wants — easier, softer and more manageable hair. A bit of creme blush on her cheeks, and some mascara and eye shadow to bring out her eyes, complete the pretty picture.

Beverly Wanted To Lighten Her Natural Hair Color.

She wanted to make her natural hair color a little lighter and warmer, and she wanted a completely new hair style. To get the lift she wanted, she chose an easy one-step shampoo-formula hair color in dark auburn — a few shades lighter than her natural hair color. Now her color is warm and rich, a perfect blend for her golden skin tone. To keep her normally dry hair in good condition, Beverly shampoos it once or twice a week with a color-fast shampoo made especially for brunets. She then uses a deep-penetrating conditioner to keep it manageable.

A shorter hair style, brushed and blow-dried away from her face, gives Beverly a more sophisticated look. (It's also more flattering to her pretty features.) And to complete the change, she found that a touch of wine blush on her cheeks, some shiny lip gloss on the lips and a bit of mascara and a smudge of eye shadow on the eyes really play up her features and complement the new hair color.

Her hair was more than half-gray. She thought she wanted a natural look but decided her natural gray hair wasn't pretty. So she chose a one-step shampoo-formula hair coloring that was close to her naturally pretty golden brown hair. All it took was 20 minutes; she just shampooed it in, then rinsed it out.

A shorter hair style — classic to complement her classically good looks — took years off her face. To soften the look further, she thinned her eyebrows and applied a moisturizing makeup base to help erase some of the lines from her face. A touch of blush and a bit of lipstick keep Ann's appearance totally natural.

QUICK AND EASY HAIR-STYLING SECRETS

Long or short, curly or straight, fine or thick — all hair needs help when it comes to keeping curls curled, sides swept back and crowns from falling. A good professional haircut is the first step.

But to give fine hair extra body or to keep frizzy hair under control, you need something more. Here are some styling secrets to keep your hair looking its best.

Fine, Limp Hair Needs Body All Over

Shampoo and towel dry hair. While still damp, give it a spray of nonaerosol hair mist. Comb. Set hair on small-to-medium-size rollers. Spray again. Let dry, brush into style, respray.

Curly Or Wavy Hair That Won't Stay Straight

Shampoo and towel dry. While damp, spray on nonaerosol hair mist. Comb through so hair hangs straight. Using your head as a large "roller," wrap sections of hair around your head. Be sure hair is taut. Respray each section as it is wrapped. Dry. Brush into place.

Straight Hair That Won't Stay Curled

Shampoo hair and towel dry. Give it a spray of nonaerosol hair mist, then comb through. Re-spray each section of hair before setting on small rollers. Set hair as usual, then respray.

When Your Flyaway Hair Flies Away

Spray hair mist directly onto your hairbrush. Brush gently over hair. Or spray mist lightly onto your hand. Gently glide dampened hand over flyaway wisps to tame them.

Your Face Needs Height But Your Crown Collapses

Set crown on supersize rollers, first separating hair into sections. Before rolling-up each roller, spray hair section with a nonaerosol hair mist. Then set and respray lightly. It's that easy, and your hair style will hold up beautifully all day long.

Vantage perfects low-tar 100's.

Introducing Vantage 100's.

You may not have known it, but those extra long 100's that so many smokers find popular are usually extra long in tar.

And that means they couldn't be Vantage. Because Vantage was made for smokers who wanted a cigarette that was low in tar and high in flavor.

So we resisted the trend. Until we could perfect a 100 with the famous Vantage combination of full flavor and low tar.

Well, we've done it. In new Vantage 100's. A blend of flavor-rich tobaccos with tar levels held down to the point where good taste still comes through.

That's the Vantage point. And that's the point of Vantage 100's. There's never been a long cigarette quite like it.

Try a pack today. We think you'll go along with us.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

Three of TV's most glamorous women tell you how they stay so pretty.

By Rosemary Lord

These three Southern belles have taken America by storm. The stunning looks of Charlie's Angels stars Farrah Fawcett-Majors, Jaclyn Smith and Kate Jackson have women clamoring to know more about them and wanting, in particular, to glean a few of their beauty secrets. I talked to the three stars between their hectic taping sessions about their ideas on beauty and personal care.

Farrah Fawcett-Majors

She keeps her trim figure by eating heartily but carefully (little meat and lots of vegetables) and by playing tennis every weekend with her husband Lee Majors, star of the Six Million Dollar Man. Farrah's beauty routine is carefully organized to the last minute: "I get up at 5:30 A.M.," she says, "stumble into the shower and wash and condition my hair; stumble out of the shower and get everything ready for the studio while my hair is drying. The night before I've done my nails, which I now have to do every day. I pluck my eyebrows, then I cream my face and, perhaps, give myself a slight facial while I'm doing something else." Farrah's hair is the envy of women everywhere, and she explained how she looks after it. Allen Edward of Beverly Hills, partner of Barbara Streisand's Jon Peters, is responsible for cutting and shaping the mane. "I wash my hair every day," she says. "Then I towel it, blow it dry and roll it in enormous rollers that I leave in until I get to the studio — about 25 minutes. Finally, I take it down (I don't tease it at all) and brush it before every shot. I like it to look natural. My hair is easy to manage and very thick, so I know I'm fortunate."

Jaclyn Smith

Green-eyed Jaclyn feels that the greatest help for her looks is her love of ballet and that her regular ballet classes keep her healthy and slim. "I'm able to eat anything without gaining an ounce," she says happily. In addition, Jaclyn works out three times a week at a Beverly Hills health club on special machines. Along with being great for toning muscles and improving circulation, she feels these workouts "can correct shortcomings in your figure and can break down fatty tissues." Jaclyn prefers subtle colors and natural earth-tones in her makeup but likes to leave her skin free of anything on weekends. She looks after her naturally brown hair herself, wears large rollers "a lot" and simply brushes her hair out to its soft, natural look.

Kate Jackson

Cast as Sabrina, the most intellectual of the Angels, 27-year-old Kate believes that beauty is a state of mind and thus makes sure she has time to be by herself to relax quietly. Kate lets the studio makeup and hair artists do what they have to do, but when she's not working, she doesn't bother with makeup. She washes her carefully cut hair herself and brushes it into shape. Like the other Angels, Kate does not have a problem with weight and eats pretty much what she likes, making sure, however, that she gets plenty of protein. A natural athlete who considered trying a career in professional tennis, she still works with a coach on weekends.

Fitness is my business

I RECOMMEND BULLWORKER®
BECAUSE IT'S FAST,
IT'S EASY AND IT REALLY WORKS!

Bob Breton says "I earn my living by keeping top executives in peak physical shape. My clients insist on maximum results with minimum time and effort. I recommend Bullworker because it's fast, it's easy and it really works."

Most men know they're not getting enough exercise to keep their bodies in shape.

Ten years as a fitness coach has taught me one important fact: most men will not stick with a training program long enough for it to do them any good, unless the training is fast, easy and shows results right away.

Bullworker gets a top score on all three counts:

—it's fast: each exercise takes only 7 seconds and the complete workout can be done in about five minutes

—it's easy: any man between 15 and 65 in good general health can perform the full program without getting tired

—you see your results right from the very first day on the built-in Power-meter gauge. After two to three weeks of regular training, most men can expect to measure an extra inch or two of muscle on their shoulders, chest and biceps—and an inch or two less flab around the middle.

And that's just the start: there are specialized exercises for building-up or trimming-down any part of your body you want to. What's more since Bullworker training is progressive, you perform better each time. Yet the training always seems easy since with every workout your strength increases by about 1%—that's an increase of up to 50% in just three months, and I've seen many men go on to double and even triple their strength. For my money, Bullworker is the most advanced home trainer on the market. I use it and recommend it to any man who wants to get back in top shape fast.

Armour's Armoury

Patching Things Up

We patch up quarrels in our home,
That is the subject of my poem.
I'm not quite sure just how we do it—
We take a patch, I guess, and glue it.
Then when the need again appears,
Out comes another patch, with cheers.

We patch up quickly, that a fact is,
The skill we've learned through years of practice.
In view of all I've said above,
This you no doubt are thinking of:
With all these quarrels patched, rebuilt,
We must look like a patchwork quilt.

—Robert Orben

The airplane passengers saw first one, then two and finally three of the four engines conk out. Suddenly the cabin door opened, and the pilot appeared with a parachute strapped on his back. "Don't panic, folks," he yelled. "I'm going for help."

JOBMANSHIP

When You're In Conflict With Your Boss

If you want to stay with your job, forget about betting. You can't win. The boss has the power. According to Charles C. Vance, author of Boss Psychology (McGraw-Hill), "When you realize the boss is angry with you, go to him or her and say, 'I'm puzzled by what happened. Will you explain it to me?' Then listen. Try to control emotions that urge you to get angry or protest. When the boss finishes, say, 'I see the situation more clearly now. Here is what I think can be done to clear it up.'" This response returns life to normal between the two of you. At the same time it marks you as a sensible and responsible person.

In order to get the most from this method, remember there's more to listening than just hearing words. Dr. Ernest Dichter, father of motivational research, recommends you pay attention to the boss's emotion and try to understand what is behind his words. Never allow yourself to begin with a preconceived idea of what your boss is going to say. For example, says Dr. Dichter, if you're late with some project, do you think you already know what the spiel will be and have you already turned out? Where possible, Dr. Dichter suggests you take notes as the boss talks. Under the emotional stress of the moment, your memory can play tricks on you. With notes, you're not open to the danger of later overlooking what the boss considers the most important point of the entire discussion.

PEOPLE QUIZ/By John E. Gibson

Are left-handers more independent than right-handers? Can a person control the temperature of his hands?

WHAT YOUR HANDS REVEAL ABOUT YOU

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. Right-handed people have different personality tendencies than left-handers.
2. Left-handed people who use their right hand for writing are more likely to get ulcers and other stress ailments.
3. If your hands lack warmth — resulting in a cold, clammy handshake — there isn't much you can do, except wear gloves when you meet someone.
4. Left-handed people are better-suited for some occupations than right-handers.
5. There are both right-handers and left-handers who are skilled in the use of their hands, but this is rarely true of the ambidextrous person.
6. The ardent swain, intent on crooning sweet nothings into his lady's ear, should consider whether she is right-handed or left-handed.

ANSWERS

1. True. A Boston University study revealed left-handers to be more independent (expressing a more ruggedly individualistic "I'm-my-own-man" attitude) and more determined than the average right-hander. Other findings: the left-hander prefers to figure things out for himself, rather than accept what people tell him, and resents people or situations that he feels restrict his lifestyle. It's also noted that the left-handed person — growing up in a right-handed world — seems to experience more challenges to his competence and autonomy than does the right-handed person.
2. True. Studies of right-handed people at California Polytechnic State University showed that when the left-handed person switches to his right hand for exacting chores such as writing, the result is what behavior specialists term "crossed dominance," which produces nervous tensions that can have a negative effect on general well-being. The study also revealed that left-sided people who have poor coordination because they use their right hands experienced almost twice the number of broken bones as the group where "crossed dominance" was not present.
3. False. Experiments with volunteer subjects at the University of Missouri have demonstrated that many people can control the temperature of their hands to an appreciable extent simply by thinking them warm — or cold. In the tests, "subjects were randomly assigned to two groups; in one they were instructed to imagine their hands in very warm water, and in the other they were to imagine their hands in ice-cold water." The findings indicate control of hand temperature can be achieved by merely giving instructions to produce relevant (hot or cold) images. And Menninger Foundation scientists conclude: "In our opinion, almost 100 percent of healthy persons have the physiological capacity to increase blood flow in the hands at will."

4. True. For example, tests at the University of Cincinnati showed left-handers to have greater spatial competence (a better sense of space, distance and proportion), which is an important attribute in such professions as architecture. For this reason, two studies of architects and architecture students were made by investigators. They confirmed that: "1) both groups tend to be more left-handed than would be normally expected; 2) all the left-handed students followed complex directions about drawing a spatial maze (an architectural exercise) perfectly, whereas over 50 percent of the right-handed students erred."

5. True. In a study at the Brain and Perception Laboratory of the University of Bristol (England), using tests of manual dexterity, speed and control of hand movement, persons who claimed to be equally "good" with both hands rarely measured up to the adeptness of the average right-hander or left-hander. "Certainly," concluded the investigators, "those subjects with mixed hand usage were not equally good with each hand, but rather equally bad." And while granting that there may be exceptions to this conclusion, it's noted that a high level of skill with either hand is associated with a strong preference for either the right or left hand.

6. True. If she's left-handed, for instance, he will do well to choose her left ear. Research sponsored by the U.S. Public Health Service's Biological Sciences has shown that responses are significantly accelerated when auditory stimulation is presented to the left ear of a left-handed person. It's important, however, that the auditory stimulation be a melodic tune. So crooning a love song (in the correct ear, of course) would seem to assure the swain of an inside track where the lady's responses are concerned.

Grass Seed Is For The Birds! Zoyzia Saves Time, Work, Money

GRASS SEED WILL NEVER GROW A LAWN LIKE THIS! SAVE WITH OUR SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY OFFER UP TO 300 AMAZOY ZOYZIA GRASS PLUGS FREE!

By Allen Sandin
Amateur

Every year I see people pour more and more money into their lawns. They dig, fertilize and lime. They rake it all in. They scatter their seed and roll and water it.

Birds love it! Seeds which aren't washed away by rain give them a feast. But some seed grows, and soon it's time to weed, water and mow... until summer comes to burn the lawn into hay, or crabgrass and daisies infect it.

That's what happens to ordinary grass, but not to AmazoY Zoyzia.

"MOWED IT 2 TIMES," WRITES WOMAN

For example, Mrs. M. R. Mitter writes me how her lawn... is the envy of all who see it. When everybody's lawns around here are brown from drought ours just stays as green as ever. I've never watered it, only when I put the plugs in... Last summer we had it mowed (2) times. Another thing, we never have to pull any weeds — it's just wonderful!

And from Iowa came word that the state's largest Men's Garden Club picked a Zoyzia lawn as the "top lawn — nearly perfect" in its area. Yet this lawn had been watered only once all summer up to August!

Cuts Your Work, Saves You Money

Your deep-rooted, established AmazoY lawn saves you time and money in many ways. It never needs replacement... sheds re-seeding forever. Fertilizing and watering (water costs money, too) are rarely if ever needed. It ends the need for crabgrass killers permanently. It cuts pushing a noisy mower in the mowing season by 2/3.

CHOKES OUT CRABGRASS

Thick rich, luxurious AmazoY grows into a carpet of grass that chokes out crabgrass and weeds all summer long. It will NOT winter kill. Goes off its green color after killing frost, regains fresh new beauty every Spring — a true perennial!

For Slopes, Play Areas, Bare Spots

End erosion of slopes with AmazoY.

Perfect answer for hard-to-cover spots, play-area areas.

Your Own Supply of Plug Transplants

Established AmazoY gives you Zoyzia plugs to plant in other areas as desired!

NO SEED, NO SOIL

There's no seed that produces winter-hardy Meyer Zoyzia. Seed of ordinary grass brings with it the problems of seed, like weeds, diseases, burning out, other ills.

Meyer Z-32 Zoyzia Grass Was Perfected by U.S. Govt. Released in Cooperation With U.S. Golf Assoc. as a superior grass.

Order guaranteed AmazoY now, get your lawn plugs FREE. Your order will be delivered at earliest convenient time for planting in your area.

DROUGHT AND WEAR RESISTANT

AmazoY loves the cookouts and parties children playing on it won't hurt it, or themselves! Says green right after scorching heat and drought!

NO NEED TO RIP OUT PRESENT GRASS. PLUG AMAZOY INTO OLD LAWN, NEW GROUND OR NURSERY AREA.

Just set AmazoY plugs into holes in ground like a cork in a bottle. Plant 1 foot apart, checkerboard style. Every plug 3 sq. inches.

When planted in existing lawn areas plugs will spread to drive out old, unwanted growth, including weeds. Easy planting instructions with order.

FREE

AmazoY exclusive! No one else can offer you this patented 2-way plugger. Saves bending, time, work. Light, rugged, invaluable for transplanting. Cuts away competing growth as it digs plug holes.

WHAT IN THE WORLD...

Tracing Your Roots

John La Corte, founder and director of the Genealogical Heraldic Institute of America, says that inquiries from Americans anxious to trace their family background have more than doubled since the TV broadcast of Roots. Unfortunately, he says, there is no central registry of facts for Americans who want to trace their backgrounds. Individuals interested in doing so are advised to start by looking at home. After locating as many names, places, certificates, dates and memorabilia as possible, they should interview living relatives. Once family sources are exhausted, turn to public libraries that contain newspapers, telephone books, census records and, perhaps, a local genealogical collection. Church and county records, available for anybody's inspection, may also be helpful. The next step may be to visit such institutions as the National Archives or the Library of Congress in Washington or the Mormon Church's genealogical library in Salt Lake City, which has microfilmed documents on more than 30 million names. In addition, there are hundreds of local genealogical societies and libraries throughout the United States, such as the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society with its collection of more than 55,000 volumes. The final stage often involves a trip to the family's country of origin. Professional assistance is another alternative. Local historical societies and churches frequently know of individuals and institutions whose business it is to trace family roots.

Coffee Grounds For Gardening

Coffee addicts trying to squeeze the last drop from their expensive habit should take up gardening. At the Brooklyn Botanic Garden, horticulturist Edmond Moulin says you can use spent coffee grounds as mulch or organic matter to retain moisture in soil for indoor and outdoor gardening. They're not as effective as peat moss in moisture retention, he warns, but they do help. The mixture he recommends uses one-part coffee grounds to three-parts soil for planting, or about one inch on top of soil as mulch.

A Formula That Allows You To Keep Control Of Your Credit

There's a simple formula that lets you keep control of your credit by warning you if you're too far in debt, says Alice Stone Dalton, family-resource management specialist. "List all your monthly payments, excluding housing," she explains. "Then divide this total by your monthly take-home pay. Multiply that figure by 100 to find the percentage which goes to monthly payments. You're losing control of your credit if installment payments are between 15 and 20 percent of your pay. You can gain control by refusing to take on any new debts. Analyze your monthly payments to determine the debts that can be eliminated first. You should concentrate on debts that carry the highest interest charges."

Choosing A Safe Skateboard

Since skateboards are a major cause of injuries to children, here is the advice of experts on how to make sure your kid's board is as safe as possible. Fiberglass boards are superior to wood, plastic or aluminum ones. Look for wheels made of polyurethane; they give the best traction, absorb shocks best and last the longest. As for trucks, the mechanisms that connect the wheels to the board, stay away from those that are simply a bit of metal screwed into the board. A lot of flexibility and give are required for most skateboard maneuvers, and rigid metal screws won't hold for long. Finally, for the best assurance of top quality, assemble your own board from parts you purchase separately.

College Professors Face Growing Threat Of Malpractice Suits

Dr. Willis Truitt, president of the United Faculty chapter at the University of South Florida, says that any college course or event seems to be fertile ground for the growth of a new trend — legal suits filed by students against their professors. Not only are such suits expensive and potentially damaging to a professor's career but Truitt fears the increase in student-initiated suits will stifle professors and result in unimaginative classes. At the University of South Florida, more than 300 professors each carry $250,000 of professional liability insurance. Disputes over grades are the largest area for potential lawsuits.

Quick Takes

Americans use five-times more table salt per capita than the world average, the Salt Institute reveals. Basic reading skills of 17-year-old students — especially blacks, ghetto dwellers, offspring of poorly educated parents and others who normally score lowest on reading tests — improved most during the early 1970s, says the National Assessment of Educational Progress for the U.S. Office of Education. Chocolate chip cookies are the top-selling cookie in America, with an estimated $400 million worth sold last year, says a private industry survey. The $400 million worth amounts to 266 million pounds — or an estimated eight billion cookies. Houseplant sales are shooting up faster than Jack's beanstalk. In 1971, $38 million worth of foliage houseplants was sold. Preliminary figures for 1976 show sales of $260 million, an increase of nearly 600 percent, reports Dr. Doug Crater, horticulturist at the University of Georgia College of Agriculture. "Five years ago the average houseplant enthusiast owned about 10 plants," he says. "Today such a person is more likely to own 25 or 30." The average age of the top 13 people in President Carter's Administration is 51, while the average age of the Soviet Union's top leaders (the 15 members of the Politburo) is 67.

Roaches Predict Earthquakes

Don't mash those cockroaches that may be scooting around your kitchen cabinets. A member of the U.S. Geological Survey says they may be helpful in predicting earthquakes. Dr. Ruth Simon has installations of cockroaches in three active California earthquake areas. She has found that there are certain times when the cockroaches are busy and other times when they're quiet. "Before an earthquake of even the smallest intensity, there's a marked increase in activity," she says. And although she has not started predicting earthquakes from cockroach behavior, she says the connection gets stronger with each comparison.
